Hindman, of Helena, Arkansas, some four years since while sitting near the fire surrounded by his family. The police are very reticent in regard to the man, but it is stated that the arrest of Vaughn is based on a letter written by him. It is stated he was hired to do the deed by one whose object was to avenge the ruin of a young lady by Hindman. Other parties, it is said, will also be arrested and the whole matter be given to the public in a few days.

Important United States Supreme Court Decision.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 14.—The Supreme Court to-day decided what is known as the New Orleans Slaughter House cases, in error from the Supreme Court of Louisiana. The butchers claimed the incorporation of the Crescent City Slaughter House Company by the Legislature, and giving it such exclusive privileges as to compel all of them to obey its requirements, was the re-establishment of slavery forever abolished by the thirteenth amendment to the Constitution, and also a violation of the fourteenth or civil rights amendment thereto, inasmuch as it places all butchers at the mercy of the incorporators and deprives them of their business, which is given over to the monopoly. The Court below held that as the charter was for the declared purpose of protecting the health of the city, an object within the lawful scope of legislation, there was sufficient consideration for the grant of privileges, and the charter was valid.

This opinion is sustained by the Supreme Court, which says: "The law does [illegible] prevent butchers from doing their [illegible] slaughtering, but only compels them [illegible] to do it in a location, which it is the right and duty of the Legislature to fix. The wisdom of the monopoly granted may be questioned, but there is no justification for the assertion that the butchers are deprived of the right to prosecute their occupation, or the people of their daily service of food. The regulation of the business of slaughtering animals within a city, inspection of the animals to be killed, and of the meat afterwards, are among the most necessary and frequent exercises of power belonging to States, and the exclusive authority of Legislatures over the subject is well settled. The answer to objection raised under the thirteenth amendment is, that personal servitude is there meant as plainly indicated by the use of the word "involuntary." The clause of the fourteenth amendment, which has been cited, protects the privileges and immunities of citizens of the United States from the hostile action of the States, and not those of the citizens of the several States. These immunities and privileges are of a distinct nature, and if the plaintiffs in error have any privileges and immunities infringed by defendants' charter, which is not conceded, they are not such as depend on citizenship of the United States, and not within the protection of such clause of the fourteenth amendment. Nor does that charter deprive the plaintiffs of property without due process of law, nor deny them equal protection of law within the meaning of the fourteenth amendment."

Mr. Justice Field read a dissenting opinion on behalf of the Chief Justice, Justices Swayne, Bradley and himself, maintaining that the right to follow any ordinary pursuit or avocation of life was not given by law, but by the Almighty, and is merely recognized and protected by law; that the Legislature of the State of Louisiana has no more right to put all the slaughtering of nearly one hundred and twenty square miles of densely populated territory, into the hands of a few corporators of this company, than it had to put all the ovens of a large city into the hands of a privileged few; and holding that the charter is unconstitutional and void.

Justices Swayne and Bradley also read several opinions.

FROM CANTON, OHIO.

Pleasant Auguries of a Bountiful Harvest—Manufacturers and Business Men Hopeful of a Brisk Season—An Improved Catechism for the Board of Directors of the "Valley Railroad."

Special Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Commercial.

CANTON, OHIO, April 12, 1873.

A few words coming from the city of Canton, Ohio, I hope may not prove distasteful to the readers of your popular daily. For over five months last past the thermometer has ranged in the vicinity of zero, notwithstanding which our fertile fields and our beautiful meadows, within a few days past, surpass any such sight ever produced in so short a time. Our manufactories are like bee palaces, full to the extent of their capacities, with cheerful, industrious, skillful and whole souled mechanics and workingmen; our merchants are in the enjoyment of the anticipation of doing an extensive business; indeed, every element of industry is alive, active, and has reason to feel encouraged with the prospect of a successful spring and summer reward for its labor, and capital therein invested.

Some of our citizens who were persuaded to take stock in the "Valley Railroad," a line from Cleveland to Bowerstown on the Pan Handle, have some misgivings in regard to the management up to this time, and as the election of its new Board of Directors takes place next Wednesday, the 16th inst., at Akron, it would be agreeable for them to know before that time what the most of them are now ignorant of. It seems that, without public notice given, the contract for grading the whole distance was given to a firm at Akron; the making of culverts, mason work in general, buying and laying the ties, was also farmed out to the same set of contractors. The report is also current that the same set is to be further favored. Our people do not seem fully to comprehend this sort of an arrangement, and fear that an Ames Oakes is at the head of it somewhere, and that some of the participants of this Credit Mobilier affair do not live one hundred miles from Cleveland and Akron. There is sufficient time for the brain portion of the present Board of Directors, before the election on the 16th, to answer a few questions as follows:

1st. Why did the Board give the entire line to one set of contractors for grading, tieing and mason work, without received proposals after ample public notice given to other contractors so to do?

2d. What is the pecuniary responsibility of the contractors, and what amount of bond was given by them to the Board, for the full and satisfactory completion of the work to be done by them?

3d. What provisions have been made by the present Board for the examination and acceptance of the work when completed? Would it not be well under the circumstances, and for the satisfaction of the stockholders, to appoint a committee of able, disinterested engineers to make a report on that subject, before the acceptance of the work?

4th. Where do the contractors and Chief Engineer reside, and are they on great social intimacy with the Directors or any one of them? If so, to give the name of said Director or Directors? What is the family relation between the contractors, or either of them, with the Chief Engineer?

5th. How was the culvert or mason work and obtaining of the ties and the laying of them disposed of, as a whole, or in specific subdivisions, and at what price?

6th. Where were these contracts made with the contractors by the Board? To what extent was the time and place known outside of it? Were the members of the Board all present?

7th. Have the Board or any portion of it any direct or indirect interest in those contracts, either expressed or implied?

In case of the election of a new Board of Directors on the 16th inst., paragraph three is kindly submitted to their attention, consideration and action. In conclusion, it would perhaps not be out of place for the Board to inform the stockholders of the arrangement made, or the prospect of making it, for the obtaining of rails, rolling stock and other incidentals to fully equip the road. While our citizens are willing to contribute according to their ability all in their power for the advancement of improvements calculated to be of advantage to the growth and prosperity of our city, they do not feel quite as willing to make investments in an enterprise, which indicates or predicts results uncertain or detrimental in its consequences. CANTON.

A Spirit Baby.

The New York correspondent of the Missouri Republican concludes a recent letter with this: "There's a school-marm down East who has a phantom scholar, you've all heard about. But a Southern lady was in this city last week who has a spirit baby. Four months ago she lost a child of five months. She is a delicate, fragile creature, and the loss of her baby nearly killed her. Four days after the little creature's death, and just at dusk, she became aware of something pulling at her dress, and there was her little baby back upon her bosom. From that time to this the baby comes back to be nursed as the evening shadows fall. She can not see it, but she feels its little hands paddling about, as a baby's will, and those around her can see her dress disarranged, her collar pulled, and the indentations on her bosom made by the invisible fingers of the spirit baby. Her physician is staggered. There is no alteration in her physical condition; everything goes on as if she was nourishing a living child. The lady is not a spiritualist, is excessively refined and aristocratic, and she shrinks from making the phenomenon public, but every night she cradles in her arms her intangible baby. She feels its unseen mouth warm against hers, and she bends with bitter tears above the invisible little visitor. It is not a desirable possession, and I should advise her to wean it as soon as possible."

The investigation of the disaster to the steamer Atlantic was resumed at Halifax yesterday. Judgment will be given on Friday.

WASHINGTON.

The Modoc Indian Treachery.

What Gen. Sherman Thinks of It.

DOES NOT FAVOR THE PEACE POLICY.

Patents to Pennsylvanians.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 14, 1873.

Gen. Sherman, in conversation to-day on the subject of the Modoc treachery, remarked that this was but an exhibition of the natural instinct of an American Indian, and that history proved from the beginning of the white man's intercourse with this race that perfidy was part of the Indian nature. He said that the Indian could not appreciate kindness, and it was necessary to punish him before expecting any success in treating with him. It was at first arranged to order Gen. Howard to deal with this Modoc question, as he had been talking a great deal about the brutality of the army policy. Howard had too much regard for his scalp, so he evaded the matter and succeeded in getting out of it altogether. General Sherman well remarked that peace policies, and such demented notions of things, were always most boisterously talked about by those furthest away from the actual scene of trouble. He said the British society for the abolition of African slavery made more noise about the abuses of African slavery than those who were engaged in the actual work of ameliorating the condition of the black race. He said it was the "stay at homes" who talked of peace during the late war, and did their best to destroy the government. The Indian peace party he thought was very much of the same stripe. At the grand meeting held under the auspices of the Indian Peace Commissioners, in New York about a year since, General Sherman was requested to be present. The General replied by letter that he would be very happy to join the Peace Commissioners in the Indian country, and strive to carry out their policy practically. The Peace Commissioners set up a howl of disapprobation, but the General remained unterrified. He had heard the war whoop of the redskins, and doubtless thought a few of these unearthly yells would be useful and instructive to these theoretical Indian worshippers. The General was never in favor of the Peace policy. He believed that vigorous measures, tempered with mercy, in peace, but unrelenting in war, was the only way to solve the Indian problem.

The receipt of news will necessarily be slow. The distance from the scene of active operations and the nearest telegraph office is thirty miles, and must be carried by couriers. The General stated that the advance of the troops would be guarded, so as not to cause a reckless loss of men. The investing lines of the army are about eight miles across. Tule Lake lies on the north, and is patrolled by small boats night and day. From the Lake, deployed south—on either side of the Modoc position, extend the flanks of the army, and on the south another detachment is working up. This completes the investment. Gen. Sherman does not think that the stories about subterranean means of escape are correct, as his information does not tend to establish the fact.

When Gen. Sherman succeeded to the command of the armies he wrote to Gen. Canby that his active services in the late war entitled him to rest, and that he should choose his field of duty. He selected the department of the Columbia, and was assigned to command there. He purchased a comfortable home at Portland, and left this scene of repose and domestic happiness to take the field once more at the call of the government. He was not in favor of the humiliating peace policy; still he conscientiously strove to execute the orders and wishes of his superiors. It was in the faithful performance of this duty that he came to his sad end. General Sherman thinks the troops will make effective work of the Modoc case. It is not intended, however, to act incautiously for the sake of haste.

Original Patents Issued.

Patents have been granted to citizens of Pennsylvania during the week for the following important inventions, each patent to bear date March 25, 1873:

Cupola and other Metallurgic Furnaces—Ogden Bolton, Jr., Pittsburgh, Pa. The openings, made by the connection of the pipe to the furnace, are stopped up and sand poured over the end of the pipe to complete the breast of the furnace. With this tapping pipe the breast can be renewed daily, preventing the hardening or baking thereof.

Oil for Lubricating from Petroleum—John K. Truax, Pittsburgh, Pa. A lubricating oil from gum of wax and unoxidized petroleum.

Sad Iron—John Hewitt, Pittsburgh, Pa. A reversible sad iron, with one face polished in ordinary form, having an opposite face inclined or tapering, extending in an angular direction and form from the center to its point.

Molasses Pitcher Top—George P. Lang, Jr., Allegheny city, Pa., assignor to Lang and Lauster, same place. A pitcher top constructed with guide pieces attached to the inside to form a recovery spout, and the inclined flange or projection to conduct the drip back to the body of the pitcher.

[illegible] Lubricator—William Hamilton, Erie, Pa. The lubricating tube extending horizontally through the cup, has at its extremity a conical valve-seat, through which passes the brass pointed valve spindle, which regulates the flow of oil and keeps [illegible].

Reed Organ Stop Action—John A. Smith, Erie, assignor to New Era Organ Company, North East, Pa. Any stop is effected by the same motion upon the same lever as draw it out. It is effected by a one-toothed ratchet and pawl. The stop register has oscillating tablets, differently entitled, and operated by above devices.

Organ Treadle—John A. Smith, Erie, assignor to New Era Organ Company, North East, Pa. The treadle is made adjustable to accommodate to players of different stature.

Rain Water Cut Off—Jerome W. Wetmore, Erie, Pa. The handle, which is made in the form shown and passes through the top of the box, is for the purpose of operating the chute so as to throw the water either into the side pipe or into the discharge pipe.

Machine for Grinding Metal Castings—George H. Spencer, York, Pa., assignor to himself and George P. Smyser, same place. The swing-frames, horizontal grinding-rollers, vertical grinding-rollers, and horizontal arm, the treadle by means of which the horizontal rollers are operated, and the operative mechanism, pulleys, belts, cranks, &c. The work rests on table or sliding plate, to which it is fastened, and on which it is moved up between the grinding-rollers until the edge comes against the vertical roller.

Steam Lubricator—William Gowenlock, Susquehanna Depot, Pa. Two or more hollow branch tubes attached to the hollow valve-stem within the heating chamber so as to allow the steam to heat the parts of the lubricating material more remote from the center valve-stem.

Reciprocating Steam Engine—John W. Wilbraham, Philadelphia, Pa., assignor to himself, Thos. Wilbraham and James Wilbraham, same place. A vibrating arm on the rock shaft is operated by a hand lever, and is connected to the slide by a link. The slide connects by the valve-stem with the valve, and moves in a suitable guide. The eccentric rod can be thrown out of gear by a guide-rod having a roller on the end, and is operated by a treadle.

Dummy Engine—Matthew H. Kollock, Philadelphia, Pa. The boxes of the car wheel axle move in curved bearings concentric with the piston, so that the axle of the latter shall at all times be equally distant from the car axle.

Power Hammer—Samuel Pennock, Kennett's Square, Pa. The hammer can be adjusted at will to not only vary the force of the blow but also the length of stroke. The upper end of a pitman is pivoted eccentrically to the usual disk on the main shaft, while from the lower end of the pitman a circular arm extends horizontally through the hammer slide. Pivoted to this arm is a crank, which, by means of a spring, forces the arm to the right. Rods connect the treadle with the spring, so that the foot on the treadle governs the position of the curved arm, and thus the length of stroke.

Total number of original patents issued during the week 234. Reissues 8.

LUCAS, OHIO, April 14, 1873.

About twelve o'clock to-day a dense smoke was seen issuing from the end of the four story building occupied by J. L. [illegible] as a storeroom, but by active exertion on part of the citizens the fire was subdued before it gained much headway. Loss about one hundred and fifty dollars; fully covered by insurance in the Home of Columbus. The Odd Fellows Hall, in the fourth story, was slightly damaged by water; insured in Richland Mutual. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Breach of Promise Case

The breach of promise case of Margaret Herschel, by her next friend, C. Behringer vs. August Hartz was brought up for trial yesterday before Judge Kirkpatrick, in the District Court. John Barton appeared for the plaintiff and James Evans for the defendant. The plaintiff alleged that the defendant promised on the 4th of August, 1872, to marry her, and the 17th of October was fixed as the date of the marriage, but he failed to consummate in the vows, and married another woman. The plaintiff soon after brought suit against him, but she also, about two weeks ago, was married to Mr. Schmidt. In her testimony yesterday she referred to the attentions the defendant paid her, and brought witnesses who testified that he introduced her to his friends as his intended. The defendant denied that he had ever entered into any marriage contract with the plaintiff. He had visited her six or seven times voluntarily, and as many times he had called after being "coaxed" to do so by Mr. Behringer. He also alleged that he had never given her any reason to suppose that he contemplated marriage, and testified that plaintiff did all the courting that was done. There were but few witnesses examined, and the case was concluded in a short time. The jury had not decided upon a verdict when Court adjourned, but decided upon one about five o'clock. The verdict was then sealed and will be presented at the opening of Court this morning.

THE HOMŒOPATHIC HOSPITAL.

Annual Meeting of Contributors.

The contributors to the Homœopathic Hospital and Dispensary of Pittsburgh held their seventh annual meeting on yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Major Wm. Frew presided and Dr. J. H. McClelland acted as Secretary.

Dr. J. C. Burgher, chairman of the Executive Committee, presented his annual report, by which it appears that the institution is in a flourishing condition, financially and otherwise. Its beneficiary work has been successfully carried on during the last year, comparing favorably in this respect, with other institutions of the same character.

The State appropriation of ten thousand dollars will free the institution of its real estate indebtedness. Henceforth contributions will go directly to the maintenance of the suffering inmates.

George W. Backofen, Treasurer, presented his financial exhibit, giving the gross receipts for the year as $11,328 64, and the expenditures $11,313 27, leaving a balance in the Treasury of $15 37. The above disbursement includes a payment on the real estate of $5,000.

Col. Wm. A. Herron, from the Auditing Committee, reported having examined the accounts of the Treasurer and Executive Committee and found them correct.

Dr. J. H. McClelland, Secretary of the Medical Board, now presented the annual report, as follows:

Report of the Medical Board.

I have the honor to submit the following annual statement respecting the service of the medical officers of this institution during the year just closed.

THE MEDICAL BOARD.

The members of the Medical Board have shown a commendable interest in the welfare of the hospital and its inmates, by meeting according to appointment, on the last Tuesday of each month, for purposes of conference and discussion relative to the patients committed to their care. The proceedings of these meetings, with reports of interesting cases, are published in one of the medical journals for the benefit of the profession at large. The medical and surgical departments have been faithfully served by a daily attendance of a member of each staff, and when occasion required, consultations of the whole Board have been called, that every opportunity might be afforded for the speedy recovery of the sick.

PRIVATE PATIENTS.

The rooms set apart for private patients, have been almost constantly occupied by persons requiring nursing and treatment such as could not be procured at their homes.

Persons taken ill at their hotels or boarding houses, have also availed themselves of the excellent facilities provided by the Hospital, in preference to remaining where they would of necessity be more or less neglected. Such patients, you are aware, if they so desire, may employ any physician of either school.

CHARITY PATIENTS.

The charity list, as heretofore comprises the large majority of patients, and it is with sincere pleasure that our efforts are contributed in this behalf.

There were two hundred and three charity patients treated during the year, and one hundred and two pay patients.

WHOLE NUMBER TREATED.

Of the three hundred and five patients under treatment, two hundred and nineteen were medical, sixty five surgical, and twenty one in the lying-in department.

One hundred and ninety five were Protestants, one hundred and six Catholics and four Israelites.

The whole number of patients treated in the hospital is 1452.

THE MORTALITY.

There were seventeen deaths, a mortality of about five and one-half per cent.

This is a very small death rate but it will appear the more remarkable from the following analysis:

Five deaths were from consumption, four were admitted having sustained mortal injuries, two had organic disease of the heart, two died from old age, one from congestive chill shortly after admission, one from ovarian tumor, and two from typhoid fever.

THE DISPENSARY.

There were 4,453 free prescriptions issued from the dispensary, and many visits made to the homes of those unable to apply in person. The total issuance of prescriptions amounts to 23,698.

The Dispensary is now open from 11 to 12 o'clock in the morning, and from 2 to three o'clock in the afternoon.

After the reports had been received the President, Major Wm. Frew, made the following remarks:

There is much that is gratifying in the reports that have just been approved, and much to encourage the increased efforts of the contributors to and management of the Homœopathic Hospital. Nearly fifteen hundred suffering men and women have been received into this institution, tenderly nursed and skillfully treated, two-thirds of whom have been charity patients. The large number of 23,000 patients have received, medicine and attendance, "without money and without price." No question of creed or color has been asked; no money qualifications demanded; no red tape displayed. To all intents and purposes ours has been a free hospital and a free dispensary. In the centre of business—kept like an elegant home—with kind treatment for all. The recent appropriation will happily relieve us of our real estate indebtedness and put us in shape for more efficient work in the future, but it will also be a guarantee to contributors that every dollar [illegible] our hands will go [illegible] the relief of the sick and wounded.

On the whole, our institution has become a public necessity. Were its doors to close to-day, many languishing poor, many friendless sick, many homeless sufferers, would miss its pleasant, cheery wards, its kind and skillful nurses and its numerous and distinguished physicians and surgeons.

The Ladies Homœopathic Charitable Association is deserving of much credit in the general success of our work. Not only their contributions but their unceasing interest and constant visitation of both indoor and outdoor patients have helped to make the benign influence of the Hospital felt in all the homes and alleys where poverty and disease go hand in hand. "The blessings of those who were ready to perish rest upon them." The President also spoke warmly of the efficiency of the medical staff.

The various reports were then accepted.

William A. Herron offered resolutions of thanks to the members of the Legislature, to the press, and to the clergymen who visited the sick, and to the Teachers' Association; also, to Drs. Burgher and McClelland for untiring efforts in behalf of the Hospital.

An election for eight trustees to serve for three years was then held with the following result:

O. Metcalf, A. McFarland, John Fleming, D. H. Fralich, Wm. Crawford, Jr., T. B. Young, Edwin Miles, C. W. Robb, Esq.

It will be understood that the terms of eight Trustees expire each year.

The Trustees then organized by electing the following officers:

President—Wm. Frew.
Vice Presidents—Wm. A. Herron, Edwin Miles.
Treasurer—Geo. W. Backofen.
Secretary—J. H. McClelland.
Librarian—T. B. Young.
Solicitor—C. W. Robb, Esq.

Sudden Death.

An aged man, named Francis Morrison, entered the eating saloon of Charles Hendrick, at No. 3 Wood street, on Friday evening last, and requested to stay all night. His request was complied with, and he was shown to a room in the third story. He remained in bed all day Saturday, complaining of feeling unwell. On Sunday he had a severe attack of hemorrhage of the lungs, but the bleeding was checked. He had another attack yesterday morning, from the effects of which he died at nine o'clock. The Coroner held an inquest over the remains, when a verdict of death from hemorrhage of the lungs was returned. The deceased was sixty-six years of age, and had no relatives living. He was in the employ of Joshua Sprane for thirty years, but left his employ a few years ago, and has been engaged as a peddler. The deceased had a bank account of $160, which will defray funeral expenses.

Death of an Estimable Lady.

With sorrow we record the death of Mrs. C. McKee, mother of Mr. A. D. McKee, dry goods merchant, of Market street, and a lady of unblemished life. She had reached her eighty-fourth year and died as she had lived, full of hope and faith in the blessed immortality. She was for many years a member of the Reformed Presbyterian Church of this city, under the pastoral charge of the Rev. John Douglas, D.D., and was esteemed and beloved by all with whom she associated. She was a mild, gentle, unobtrusive Christian woman, whose consistent life had its termination in a peaceful death. Her memory will long be cherished by many whom she has honored and blessed.

CITY MATTERS IN BRIEF.

PORTIONS of wrecks of log rafts cling to the Allegheny bridge piers.

WE have received the annual report of the City Controller published in neat pamphlet form.

THE steamboat Iron Mountain, which left for New Orleans yesterday, had on board 4,000 boxes of Hostetter's bitters.

CAPT. THOMAS FARROW is, we regret to learn, lying very low at his residence near McKeesport from a stroke of paralysis.

AN old resident of Sewickley, Mr. George H. Miller, died at Zelienople, Butler county, last week, at the advanced age of ninety-four years.

DR. JONAS R. McCLINTOCK, the oldest ex-Mayor of Pittsburgh now living, visited the Council Chamber yesterday. Dr. McClintock is now living in the East End district.

THE work of constructing the new Bessemer steel works at Braddocksfields has commenced, and it is expected to be in running before July 1st. From three to four hundred men will be employed.

IT is reported on the streets that when the new city charter passed the Legislature it did not contain the provision for an election on the question of annexation of Allegheny city. There does not appear to be any foundation for the rumor, however.

EX-CHIEF OF POLICE HAGUE yesterday arrested the driver of an express wagon on suspicion of knowing something about the stealing of the money box from the Safe Deposit Company. This action was based on the report in a morning paper that an express man had carried it in his wagon. Of course nothing came of the investigation.

A HEARING was had yesterday afternoon before Alderman McMasters in the case of Thomas Brown against the Gas Company, to recover ten dollars which he had deposited with the company four years ago, as security for the payment of the gas bills. Mr. Brown sold his house two years ago, and asked for the money, demanding also the interest. This, however, the company refused to give, and only offered him the ten dollars. He allowed the matter to remain unsettled until a few days ago when he entered suit. The Alderman gave the plaintiff a judgment on the Gas Company of ten dollars, with interest from the time he demanded the money.

Fire in East Liberty.

Last evening, shortly after six o'clock a fire occurred in East Liberty, involving little loss however. Flames were discovered issuing from the frame stable of Mr. John McKelvey, situated on the corner of Broad and Mary streets, east of the village. The Hook and Ladder Company No. 2 and the engine located in the vicinity were called in requisition and it was believed unnecessary to send an alarm to the office. Chief White was notified, however, and visited the scene. The roof and part of the stable were burned and a frame dwelling near by was somewhat scorched, the whole loss amounting to about $200. It is not known how the fire originated.

All Retail Grocers

Who want to sell an article that will help increase their business, and give the very best satisfaction to their customers, should at once secure a supply (if they do not already keep it in stock), of the Banner Baking Powder. It has for a long time been the most popular baking powder in this section, and from a comparatively small beginning five years ago, its sale has grown to be very large and rapidly increasing. Many persons who were among the first to use it, are to-day its patrons, which in itself is perhaps the best indorsement it could have. Retail dealers can procure it by ordering through their wholesale grocer, or by sending to the manufactory. 231 Liberty street, Pittsburgh.

For Rent—Liberty Street.

The Daily Commercial.

TUESDAY, APRIL 15, 1873.

The State Normal School at Shippensburg, an important educational institution, will be inaugurated with appropriate ceremonies to-day. Addresses will be delivered by George P. Beard, Esq., principal of the school, Hon. John Eaton, Jr., United States Commissioner of Education, Hon. J. P. Wickersham, State Superintendent of Public Schools, and other distinguished advocates of liberal education.

A matter which considerably concerns numerous important interests in this State to understand, is, that the law passed at the late session of the Legislature, repealing the tax on the net earnings or income of incorporated companies liable to tax on capital stock, takes effect from the 1st of November, of last year. The repeal of the law in reference to gross receipts of railway and canal companies does not take effect until July 1, next.

The latest published report of the Bureau of Statistics brings the exhibit of our foreign commerce down to November 30, 1872. Allowing for the difference in the warehouse account, the imports for the eleven months ended at that period, are in excess of the domestic and foreign exports combined, to the amount of $117,767,227, while for the eleven months ended November 30, 1871, the imports exceeded the exports by only $68,681,567.

In the defeat of the Republican candidate for Governor of Connecticut by the New Haven bolters, the opposition papers hear "thunder all around the sky." And in the very first campaign in which national issues are involved, and the principles and policy of the two parties are again set squarely in opposite array, they—in common with the party in whose interest they prick up their ears—will catch that which now they think they hear.

It may not be generally known that the tax of five per cent heretofore deducted from each interest and coupon payment of bonds issued by corporations of this State is repealed, and the same put upon the companies and made payable on the first of January and July to the State Treasurer. Those companies that have interest and coupons maturing on the 1st of July next claim that the payment of the five per cent. to holders does not then begin, for the reason that the interest heretofore withheld had accrued up to that under the old law. The matter is of some importance to parties in interest.

For subtle and biting irony commend us to Chief Justice Chase, who is reported to have lately expressed the opinion that if the Democratic party "had the firmness to discard and throw overboard all aspirants who favored the increase of Congressional salary and to nominate new men pledged to abolish that increase, they would carry the next Congressional elections." This is as though one should descant to a helpless incurable on the manifold blessings of health, or should regale a poverty hounded wretch with the recital of the (to him) impossible methods by which the millionaires of the world amassed their wealth. Instructive in both cases, no doubt, but think how unspeakably cruel.

New York financial circles are considerably agitated over the action taken by a number of the principal brokers of that city in regard to the enforcement of the usury laws. It is a well-known fact that money is loaned upon the street, every day, at usurious rates of interest. A number of capitalists combined together have it in their power to keep the money market tight by contracting loans, and only lending at high rates. This action embarrasses all departments of business, and a number of influential men have determined to see what remedy the law affords. The movement is directed against certain lenders of money, but it is the intention of those interested in the movement to ascertain whether the banks are also guilty or not. The punishment for usury, and also for conspiracy, is fine or imprisonment, or both, at the discretion of the court. The leaders of the movement are said to be quite sanguine in regard to the matter. Meanwhile, it is reported that those who have been informed against, intend to revenge themselves by withdrawing capital altogether from the street, and thus make the stringency severer than ever. What will ultimately come of the matter remains to be seen.

Notwithstanding experience has fully shown that in the long run "a strike" very seldom succeeds but almost invariably recoils on the heads of its instigators, it is reported that a general labor strike is about to take place in all the principal towns and cities of the country. It seems almost incredible that, figuratively speaking, intelligent men should be so bent on cutting their own throats. Do they not see that by their blindness and folly they are, as in New York, driving capital from their own fields of labor to seek more remunerative investment elsewhere? For instance, in that city, a year ago, the building prospects were brighter than they had been since the late war. Then came the labor agitations, and the result is a withdrawal of over twelve millions from investment—a dead loss to the city—and a loss of over six millions to the workingmen themselves. We earnestly counsel workingmen everywhere to ponder these significant facts. Even in the few instances in which strikes have been successful the same ameliorative results would most likely have been reached nearly or quite as soon, and certainly with far less friction and loss, by the operation of the simple law of supply and demand. In this country, where every man can stipulate for himself regarding his wages and hours of labor, the whole system of strikes is a colossal stupidity. It is to be hoped the workingmen of Pittsburgh may utterly refuse to countenance the blind and blundering folly.

THE PRESIDENT'S INDIAN POLICY.

The massacre of General Canby and those who accompanied him, by the Modoc Indians, while engaged in the very act of carrying out the Peace policy of the President in his dealings with the Indian tribes, has very naturally aroused the indignation of the country and forced the government into a war upon the Modocs that must be one of extermination. The cry for vengeance is universal and right. The treacherous savages have put themselves beyond the pale of mercy and called down upon their own heads the sentence of death and extinction. The order of Gen. Sherman, to destroy them root and branch, as Saul was directed to slay the Amalekites, was the right thing to do, and the only thing the government could be expected to do. So far, all are heartily agreed.

But we cannot understand nor join in the clamor against the Peace Commissioners as being responsible for this outrage, nor the conclusion drawn from it that the Peace policy is a failure and should therefore be abandoned. That it was a failure in this case, we admit; but it has succeeded so well and so fully in every other case, that we marvel at this precipitancy in condemning it because of a solitary failure. One swallow does not make a summer, nor one tree a forest; and one failure in attempting to carry out a Christian and humane policy towards a savage and ill-used people, is not an offset against the multitudinous instances of success in other cases. The cry for vengeance in this particular case is natural and just; but let us take good heed that the lust for vengeance does not lead us into unjust judgment. The Peace policy is to be judged on its merits, and in the full light of the history of all the efforts made in carrying it out with the various tribes, and not by this one, isolated instance of failure. The frenzy of indignation it has provoked will be nearly as bad as the crime which provoked it, if it leads us into the substitution of a harsh and bloody policy with all other tribes of Indians, for a peaceful and humane one.

The Peace policy towards the Indians, generally, by President Grant, has done more to gain for him a warm place in the hearts of the Christian people of this land than anything else he has done. It was the substitution of fair dealing for fraud, of kindness for harshness, and of Christianizing and civilizing influences for brutalizing ones. It looked forward to making the Indians an agricultural and civilized class, and to weaning them thus from the pursuits of hunting and war. It was charitable, kind and humanizing in all its length and breadth, and whether it has been or will be a failure, it was an experiment the government was bound to make, both for the sake of humanity and for the protection of the people on whose border the Indians live. The trial of it has had but a few years test, and it has not failed, so far, except in this one melancholy case. To abandon it without further trial, solely on account of the unfortunate result in this instance, is unwise and unstatesmanlike. The Cherokees, the Choctaws, and various other tribes have been saved from extinction and educated up to the self-sustaining point; and something further than this failure with the Modocs is necessary to demonstrate that the same result cannot be reached with the Sioux and other Indian tribes of the West. Exterminate the Modocs—they have forfeited the right to live; but let us not measure others' corn in their bushel. They are not a fair specimen of the Indian race, bad as that race is acknowledged to be; and the only wonder to us is that, with such unpromising materials to deal with, the Peace Commissioners have succeeded as well as they have.

THE LEGISLATURE.

It seems to have grown into a chronic habit with the newspapers in Pennsylvania to growl at and abuse the Legislature, especially when it adjourns finally. They have fallen into this groove and seem unable to get out of it. There is no pause to inquire whether the censures so liberally bestowed are just or unjust; but, as abuse is easy, they fall into it naturally and as a matter of course.

The Legislature which has just adjourned is no exception to this rule. It is abused and denounced as its predecessors have been, and about in the same terms and on the same accounts. It is arraigned because it passed so many bills; because it failed to pass any of overshadowing importance, and because it didn't pass the little schemes in which the writers of this abuse were personally interested. Whenever we see a paper particularly ferocious on the Legislature, we naturally conclude that some bill failed to pass in which somebody was specially interested. The measure of the guilt of the Legislature may be thus defined: "It has passed those bills which are of no use to us; and it has failed to pass those we wanted."

Now, we are far from believing that the members of the late Legislature were saints or profound statesmen; but we do know that the leading members in both Houses addressed themselves earnestly to the task of checking the tide of special legislation; that they labored vigorously to prevent hasty and ill-considered legislation; and that they accomplished a great deal more than they get credit for. The Speakers of both Houses did their best to prevent the introduction of bills in cases where the Courts have power, and the Speaker of the House, particularly, was inexorable in his rulings on this point, thereby excluding many improper bills, and preventing the attempt to introduce others of a similar kind; and the committees of both Houses sifted rigidly and carefully the bills referred to them, reporting more bills, negatively, than were ever so reported before.

The number of bills reported to the House was, in round numbers, 2,300, and to the Senate 2,000. This, notwithstanding the unusual pressure from all quarters to obtain chartered privileges, was less than last year and for several years previous. Of this number about 300 were reported negatively and not acted on; a very large number were negatived and postponed on second or third reading; and a still larger number were never acted on at all. At no previous session of the Legislature has there been so large an accumulation of bills that failed to pass; and this one fact is, we think, very creditable to both bodies.

The last session of the Legislature sent nearly thirteen hundred bills to the Governor; this one, we are assured, has sent a much less number; and we firmly trust, and believe that the tide of special legislation has passed its flood and is now fairly on the ebb.

The complaint that the Legislature has passed no measure of great importance is answered by the fact that no measure of great importance was presented to it for consideration. It passed on all that came before it, and many measures of doubtful value and mischievous in their tendency were squelched by it. Every bill offered, that was intended to limit and restrain special legislation, was passed. Let us specify:

It passed a bill giving the Governor power to appoint Notaries Public at his discretion. This cut off a very fruitful source of special legislation, inasmuch as, heretofore, from fifty to one hundred bills were passed every session authorizing the appointment of additional notaries;

It extended the powers of the Courts in granting charters, enumerating several new classes of charters that may thus be granted;

It passed a general law, very liberal in its provisions, for the incorporation of iron and steel companies and this was extended by a subsequent act to coke, paper, and several other classes of manufacturing companies, thereby cutting off another source of special legislation;

It fixed, clearly and distinctly, what kinds of property and how much shall hereafter be exempt from taxation, and repealed all special acts previously passed exempting from taxation property other than that thus specified. All other bills exempting property from taxation were defeated by this act;

It abolished the tax on net earnings of corporations and the tax on gross receipts, thus removing a heavy load that was burdening the productive industry of the State;

It passed a general insurance law, establishing an insurance department, and providing the needed legislation for the protection of those who have property insured;

It established, for the first time, a policy for the management of Normal Schools—a growing and important interest;

It passed a law for stocking the rivers of the State with fish;

It passed an Apportionment bill;

And finally, it passed an Appropriation bill in which the interests of the State were more carefully protected than usual.

To all this it may be added, to its credit, that it repealed the ridiculous cumulative system of voting in boroughs, and refused to pass the bill assuming the payment of claims for losses by border raids.

This is a fair record, and the fact that less than the usual number of bills was passed, notwithstanding the persistent pressure for their passage, from all quarters, is also to be taken into the account in making up a final judgment on the action of the Legislature.

We may be permitted to add that there was a steady and persistent desire shown, in both branches and by men of both parties, to watch and scrutinize legislation, and to prevent mischievous enactments. In the House Messrs. Orvis and Brockway on the Democratic side, and Messrs. Mitchell, Elliott, McCormick, Mahon, Newmeyer, Bullard and Cross on the Republican side, all gave their undivided attention to this matter, and merit special mention therefor; and in the Senate the same may be said of Messrs. Wallace and J. D. Davis on the Democratic side, Mr. McClure on no side, and Messrs. White, Fitch, Rutan, Delamater, Warfel and our own Senators on the Republican side. We do not mention these gentlemen for the purpose of drawing invidious distinctions; but to show that care, vigilance and scrutiny were duly, steadily and continuously exercised.

On the whole, while there certainly may have been better Legislatures, there as certainly have been worse ones; and while all that was arrived at was not accomplished by those who appreciate the true sphere of legislation, much was, nevertheless, accomplished; and for the good that was done the Legislature deserves praise instead of blame.

The Department of Agriculture has received answers from all parts of the country, to some questions propounded in a circular sent out last month, and the results elicited are of considerable value to the practical farmer. The monthly report for March contains answers regarding the rotation of crops, soil improvements, the relative profits of selling and feeding hay and grain, the most profitable branches of farming, value of farm lands compared with their value in 1860, and the causes of discouragement existing among farmers. In regard to rotation of crops the general result shown is, that there is no systematic rotation in any considerable portion of the United States. A thorough system is found only in a few counties in New England, the large number of towns and cities creating such a demand for garden products that rotation is very difficult. About a third of the reported counties in New York pursue "a regular and uniform system;" another third pursue a partial rotation, while the remainder seem to ignore it entirely. In a majority of counties in New Jersey crop rotation is the rule. In Pennsylvania but three counties are reported as entirely ignoring rotation. In Maryland rotation is general, but in some districts there is a decided tendency to excessive grain and grass cropping. Of the South Atlantic States Virginia shows the strongest tendency to crop rotation. About one-fourth of the counties in that State report a somewhat regular routine. In North Carolina a majority of the counties report an entire absence of crop rotation. In South Carolina, Georgia, Arkansas, and in all the Gulf States, systematic rotation is very little thought of. In Tennessee, West Virginia and Kentucky an entire absence of systematic rotation is reported in a majority of counties. Of the States north of the Ohio river, considerable portions of Michigan and Wisconsin have been too recently settled to admit of any organized rotation system, but the tendency is in that direction. Rotation is the rule in about half the counties of Ohio, and in about one-third of those of Indiana. In Illinois two-thirds of the counties entirely ignore rotation, while of the remainder about one-half pay very little attention to it. In the States west of the Mississippi river, rotation is generally the rare exception, and destructive repetitions of particular crops are too frequent to mention. On the Pacific coast rotation is but little known, and the best wheat lands, which have astonished the world by their enormous production, are visibly declining in fertility. The Commissioner reasons from his answers of correspondents that home production for home consumption as a permanent policy is a more profitable policy than the opposite idea, that the profit of feeding hay and grain is greater than the profit of selling those products, and that manure produced by the farmer's stock is far more profitable and beneficial as a rule than commercial fertilizers. He also classes "middlemen" among the greatest evils that beset a farmer, often taking, he says, for a small service, when they combine more than half the market value of a commodity, and leaving for the producer less than the cost of the production.

TELEGRAPH PROSPECTS AHEAD.

President Thurston, of the Pacific and Atlantic Telegraph Company, has, we understand, secured for his line, from the patentees, the Automatic Telegraph System, and it is to be immediately put into operation over the wires of the company. This system, whereof the public have from time to time through the press heard somewhat, has for several years been progressing through various experimental stages, and has within the last few months been brought to a practically successful point.

The value of this system to the public will be best understood by some explanatory words. Most, if not all readers, know that telegraphic communication by the Morse system, is made by the transmission of certain signals, formed by dots and dashes, which are produced by the breaking and restoring of the electrical circuit through the use of a key, manipulated by the fingers of the operator. The average speed under the Morse system at which these signals can be transmitted, or made, is usually set down at about thirty words per minute. We understand that in the practical working of telegraph lines, however, the transmission is fully one-fifth less. The capacity of a wire, therefore, to transmit any given number of messages, is limited by the number of signals the operator can manipulate with the Morse key. The volume of the transmission is also again circumscribed by the atmospheric and material conditions of the wires. For instance, on the circuit between Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, the current may be created by an electrical power of twenty cups of battery located at Pittsburgh; under certain atmospheric interferences and transient imperfection of the wire, not more than one cup power of current will reach Philadelphia; rendering it impossible to send or receive with any speed, if at all, signals between the two points. Under this limit of key power, and this uncertainty of battery power, it will readily be seen that only a specific average of transmission power is obtained, and that the volume of messages to be transmitted on any one wire is and must be, under the Morse system, limited. And the tariffs of the telegraph companies determined by their carrying capacity, as compared and adjusted with cost of maintenance, working expense, reconstruction and interest upon capital. An increase of wires, to overcome by conductive power, lack of transmitting ability, only increases expenses in relative proportions. The expenses of a telegraph company are nearly fixities, the wages of employes and cost of material being governed by standard market rates, which vary but little, and rather upward than downward. Under all these circumstances, and under the competitive rates that have been for the last few years prevailing no telegraph lines in this country have been able to pay any dividends to stockholders, and on some routes and lines advance of rates became it is claimed necessary last year to prevent loss. While such advance of rates has been unpalatable to the public, and have no doubt somewhat decreased the volume of telegraphy, yet to those who use the telegraph, it was probably a necessary evil, the dilemma being to pay such rates as will sustain opposition companies, or else, as by natural processes would be the result, have them passed out of existence. All these matters being well understood in telegraph circles, and to some extent among the general public, there has naturally been much anxiety for the invention of some process by which the transmissive capacity of a wire should be, largely increased, without corresponding increase of working expense. Such an attainment being thought—the one which would combine low rates to the public, with good remuneration to the stockholders. The automatic system which, as before stated, President Thurston has secured for his lines seems to be the desideratum. As before stated the Morse system only allows the transmission of an average of about thirty words per minute. The automatic system has transmitted between Washington and New York as high as three thousand words a minute of press matter, in a clear, distinct, satisfactory manner. On longer circuits, even before the great progress which has been attained in the past three months, was made, from three to four hundred words, or twenty times the Morse system capacity, was satisfactory transmitted on long circuits, and there is no doubt expressed that double that capacity can be attained. A description of the automatic system, interesting as it is, would occupy too long a space, and we can only say that the transmission of the Morse signals or alphabet is made by means of machinery, and that when for lack of current by reason of atmospheric disturbances the Pacific and Atlantic lines could not receive a dot between Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, the automatic system was able to send and receive from two to three hundred words a minute over the same wires. Mr. Thurston expects to have the system working between Pittsburgh and the Eastern cities in a few days, and at Cincinnati, Louisville, Chicago, St. Louis and other large Western cities in a short time. This will give the lines of the Pacific and Atlantic great facilities, and must largely increase profits and the value of the stock. To the public it looks as if the question of postal telegraph was to be settled in an unexpected manner under late telegraphic improvements. The Stearns duplex instrument or double transmitter, by which messages may be sent and received on the same wire at the same moment of time, doubles the transmissive capacity of a wire; and now comes into the field the automatic system by which the power of transmission over one wire is increased twenty or thirty fold; and when, as will probably be the result, the duplex instrument is combined with the automatic system, thus again doubling the transmission ability of the automatic system, it would seem as if private companies would be able profitably to telegraph at prices heretofore unhoped for, and telegraphing be as easy as talking, and, to quote a slang phrase, "as cheap."

A remarkable freak of fortune has recently been witnessed in Hawley, England, where a blacksmith named Samuel Allen, employed as a common laborer by an English railway company, has found himself possessed of an estate of nearly half a million dollars. Allen's ancestors owned and occupied the Ubberly Hall estate, situated near Buckwall, but his father was ejected some time since on account of his inability to produce the title deeds which had been lost. A distant relative recently obtained a clue to the missing deeds, which had been found by strangers in a house occupied by a deceased member of the family, and had fallen into the hands of the man Hobbes, who a little while ago induced several persons to believe that he had been sent down by the Lord Chancellor to help poor people to recover property, and who is now undergoing a sentence of three years' imprisonment in consequence. Upwards of three hundred weight of deeds were found in Hobbes's office by the police, and those of the Ubberly estate were among them. Allen learned enough to induce him to make several efforts to discover the parchments, but without success, until he was induced to visit the prisoner in jail. Hobbes, in a moment of repentance, told him where the deeds had been placed, and they were found by Allen, who recovered them by paying a few pounds to the person with whom they had been left as security for a debt. Allen seems confident that he will be able to establish his title, and proceedings in the law Courts will shortly be commenced to recover the property.

The work for this season in the important matter of restocking the lakes and rivers of the country with shad, salmon, and other valuable food fishes, has just opened. Seth Green, the eminent pisciculturist, is on his way South to begin the work of artificially hatching the shad. He will start with one of the Southern rivers, probably the Savannah, and come North as the season advances, reaching the Potomac about June. Complete arrangements have been made to secure a large supply of salmon eggs from the Sacramento, 3,000,000 of which will be placed in the Potomac and Susquehanna next fall. The German salmon eggs, which were largely injured by the weather and improper packing in their transportation, will be replaced without cost. The salmon-hatching on the Penobscot will be continued this season on a larger scale than ever, for the purpose of stocking the Eastern rivers.

Captain S. H. Miles, of New York, fell into the Delaware river at Lewes, Del., and was, to all appearances, drowned. His body was recovered, coffined, a physician's certificate of death by drowning secured, and the remains started for New York in the hands of Adams Express. At Philadelphia there was a delay of seven hours, the coffin lying at the depot during that time. Arrived at its destination, the certificate of the Lewes physician was found to be informal, and it was determined to open the burial case. A corpse-like flush on the features of the supposed corpse attracted attention, and led to an examination. The man was found to be alive, although he had been encoffined for thirty-five hours. He was removed to a hospital, and is now rapidly recovering. This is the story told by the Philadelphia Press, and, if true, exceeds in strangeness some of the most improbable stories of novelists.

A man of sixty, giving the name of F. H. Livingston and John J. Roe, has been victimizing the people of Mobile quite extensively. He represented himself to be a person of unlimited means, and contracted to buy nearly all the river vessels in the harbor, and enough lumber to furnish them all with a cargo. His endeavors to negotiate a draft for $60,000 brought him to grief, and he was arrested. He operated extensively in New Orleans also, getting fifty dollars from the chief of police of that place by his sinful games.

No better illustration of New York's condition could be given than this little anecdote furnishes: As Mr. Samuel Davis, a Custom-house official was passing along West street, the other morning, a rough-looking man accosted him with "Say, mister, can't yer give a feller ten cents?" "Yes, here's a stamp," replied Mr. Davis, handing the fellow the money. "Well, stranger, that has saved yer life. I was so hard up that I had made up my mind that if yer didn't give me suthin I'd kill ye and then rob ye," added the ruffian, in a good tone of voice, at the same time displaying a dagger.

GENERAL AND PARTICULAR.

A meeting of petroleum dealers is in session in New York, for the purpose of establishing a code of rules for the government of their business transactions.

It is generally believed now by meteorologists, that we are to have a cycle of very hot summers. An eminent New York sanitarian in the Health Department has already issued a report suggesting measures during the coming summer which shall prevent the fatal effects of the expected heat.

Prof. Agassiz asserts that "all living beings, whatever their diversity of form, have grown up from eggs which are at first all precisely similar. Deviations take place little understood that eventually change these beings into widely differing animals." This explains where everything comes from except eggs.

A new outlet for the grain of the West is proposed in the improvement of the Kankakee or Iroquois rivers, in Illinois, and their connection with the Wabash and Erie Canal by means of a short canal extending from Attica to Logansport, Indiana, to the navigable waters of one or the other of those streams.

Serious irregularities in the Land Department in the State of Michigan are reported to have been discovered, involving the integrity of ex-Commissioner Edmonds.

Now winter's rains and ruins are over,
And all the season of snows and sins,
The days dividing lover and lover,
The light that loses, the night that wins;
And time remembered is grief forgotten,
And frosts are slain and flowers begotten,
And in green underwood and cover,
Blossom by blossom the spring begins.

A New York physiologist is at work on a pamphlet in which he essays to prove that hydrophobia is nothing but "emotional insanity," and should be respected as such.

The estimated receipts from internal revenue for the current fiscal year, were $75,000,000. The receipts to April 1 had been $83,000,000, with three months of the year yet to hear from.

A petrified forest has been found by English tourists on the western portion of the Lybian desert, on the caravan route to the Faloom. In this vicinity the whole desert is littered with petrified wood, from pieces the size of one's finger to pieces of large branches and whole trunks of trees. This forest is said to be a continuation of the well-known petrified forest of the Abbasieh desert to the east of Cairo, but far superior to the latter in the size and perfectness of the trees.

Copper two cent pieces will become precious keepsakes in the remote future. The new coinage act abolished that coin, and no more will be put in circulation.

The freedmen advance daily. A little darkey in Eufaula, Alabama, recently put a bony companion in a sack, and sold him for old iron, obtaining forty-five cents by the transaction.

The accretions of mud at the Southwest pass, and at the mouth of the Mississippi river, have been so large, during the past season, as to form a complete bar across that outlet, to the serious obstruction of navigation. At the latest advices there were nearly fifty vessels, some of them having less than sixteen feet draught, awaiting ingress or egress.

During the last session of the Legislature of this State all laws imposing State taxes "upon horses, mules and cattle" were repealed, the repeal, however, not to take effect until the next meeting of the Board of Revenue Commissioners of the Commonwealth.

San Francisco calls them "hoodums;" Chicago and many other cities call them "bummers," and now St. Louis comes forward and proposes to call them "roosters."

The Legislature of New York is approaching the end of its regular session; and the journals of that State are beginning to discuss the question whether an extra session will not be necessary, to finish important business not yet completed.

At a time when so many of the States are making women eligible as school trustees, the experience of the people of Tiverton, R. I., is worth considering. A year ago they elected two of three females to places on their school board, and the result of the experiment is seen in the fact that at the election last week a new board was chosen consisting entirely of men.

Experiments are in progress in England on the preparation of illuminating gas from excrement. Among the various products arising from the distillation in the case are ammoniacal liquids and a coke which is a valuable deodorizer.

There seems to be a probability that in addition to the "New Jersey Railway National Air-lines," across the State, a third track will be laid by the Baltimore and Ohio Company. Since the passage of the Free Railroad law the feasibility of such an enterprise has been admitted by many of their officers. The new road would be for their own special accommodation rather than as a competitor against the two others, although, from the nature of things, it could not escape an opposition of interests.

Apropos of the extensive religious revivals which are taking place in this country, it is a curious fact that they occur simultaneously with any unusual financial distress. In other lands, the signal of war wakens deep religious feeling, and the restoration of peace enriches the church through votive offerings. Here, the loss of the almighty dollar calls men to serious thoughts, and turns their care to something higher than dross.

It is a suggestive circumstance that, with perhaps three exceptions—the United States, Germany and Great Britain—all the civilized countries are steadily increasing their debts. The greater portion of them have been created within the memory of the present generation; the great majority of them are rising still with a rapidity which is adding annually hundreds of millions to the national liabilities of the world.

PERSONAL.

An American has lately bought one of the four perfect copies of John Gower's Confessio Amantis, printed by William Caxton in 1493, of whose book-making it remains to this day one of the most beautiful specimens. This copy of the Confessio Amantis contained a note from Thomas Hearne, the celebrated antiquary, who died in 1735, certifying that it was "worthe at leaste a guinny." It sold for £720 at a sale five or six months ago in West Dean, Sussex. The American owner paid $4,000 for it.

That good old man, Pio Nono, seems about to resign his earthly temple, let us hope, for a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens. His Pontificate has been marked by the vicissitudes, more momentous and significant than that of any other primate. He has lived to hear his own countrymen, devout Catholics, pronounce the divorce of the spiritual and temporal powers of the Church, in spite of all he could do to prevent it. He opposed the traditions of the papacy to the progressive liberalism of modern thought, and suffered the humiliation of realizing how impotent they were to arrest its onward march. But spite of all his mistakes, no Pope ever enjoyed to a greater extent the respect and popularity which all men yield as a willing homage to unblemished personal character and sincere piety.

An English blacksmith has just recovered an estate worth $250,000, which had been the property of his ancestors from the time of the Conquest, but the title deeds to which were lost about one hundred years ago, and the family were dispossessed. The deeds were lately discovered in London, where they had been pledged as a security for a small loan, and were recovered at an expense of $20.

We are going to find out all about this Ujiji business pretty soon. Dr. Livingstone is reported on his way home. But how about that two years' trip down the Nile that Stanley sent the doctor on?

Bishop Crowther, of the Niger Territory, in Africa said to be the first colored man ever admitted to the Episcopate of the English Episcopal Church, is now in London, soliciting funds for his mission.

Mr. James Montgomery Bailey, of the Danbury News, whose good things, credited to that paper or not credited, are found in all the journals, is a native of Albany, and was born in 1841. His father was killed when James was a child. His mother afterward married a gentleman from Rome, N. Y., and at that place, and in Albany, the family lived until 1860, when they moved to Danbury, Ct. At this time James was eighteen years of age. He had free range of the public schools, though at that time, like most boys, he preferred business. He checked this inclination, however, and remained at school until his arrival at Danbury, where he worked with his step-father at carpentry until August 1862. Then came the war, and with it the Danbury youth took his first practical lessons in original composition, sending letters home from the field. He returned, and with a friend bought two Danbury papers, out of which he made the Danbury News. The paper was made strictly local, and it was not long before people discovered that one good paper was better than two poor ones.

English journals, particularly those of London, are industriously busying themselves in summing up the public services of the new Senator from Massachusetts while he directed the finances of the country.

The death is announced of Dr. Wm. Brydon, C. B., of the Bengal Medical Service, whose name will be remarkable in Indian history as that of the one solitary individual of the 13,000 soldiers and camp followers of the British army at Cabul who was neither killed nor taken prisoner in the memorable retreat from Cabul in January, 1842. Dr. Brydon, after some hairbreadth escapes from the Afghans, reached Jellalabad alive, though wounded and exhausted, all the other persons composing the British force having been either killed or taken prisoners. Dr. Brydon went through the rest of the seige of Jellalabad with the garrison under the command of Sir Robert Sale, and it was his singular fate to be again shut up with Sir Henry Lawrence at Lucknow, and to pass uninjured through that long and trying siege.

STATE NEWS.

The Co-operative Car Builders' Association of Wilmington, Del., have decided to remove their works to Oxford, Chester county, the people of that place having subscribed for $30,000 of the stock.

A Mercer shoemaker has sued his ex-lady love for $2,000 damages, all because she jilted him.

The People's Insurance Company, of Carlisle, has quit. Causes, want of success and failure to keep ahead of losses and expenses.

Says the Johnstown Tribune: Our new Congressional District—Bedford, Blair, Somerset, Cambria—has probably more ex-Congressmen living within its border than any other district within the State. Bedford has four: Job Mann, S. L. Russell, John Cessna, and B. F. Myers. Blair has three: Samuel Calvin, Samuel S. Blair, and Archibald McAllister. Somerset has three: John R. Edie, Wm. H. Koontz, and A. H. Coffroth. Cambria has two: Daniel J. Morrell and A. A. Barker.

The Lock Haven Republican says that on Thursday two little girls, daughters of widow York, residing in the southeast quarter of the city, attempted to cross the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad drawbridge that spans the canal, when the younger fell into the water. The older child caught her by the dress as she was falling, and attempted to save her, but was herself drawn in, and both sank together. Fortunately the mail train came along at that moment, and the engineer, seeing the accident, came to a halt. A gentleman from Williamsport, whose name we could not learn, sprang from the train and into the canal, and succeeded in rescuing the little adventurers from a watery grave. The younger child, as he came near, raised her head above the water and faintly said: "Pull me out first—me out first." Her wish was gratified, and not a moment too soon, as she was fast being drawn under some logs that were lying there, and was already nearly breathless. The other, too, was much exhausted, and must have drowned in a few minutes. The discovery made by the engineer, alone prevented a fatal termination of the accident.

Erie is doing an extensive business in the way of divorces.

Messrs. Thickstein & Hollister have sold the Crawford Journal, Meadville, to Mr. Ernest A. Hempstead, who will hereafter conduct it. Mr. Hempstead is a staunch Republican, and will do good service for the party.

At This Very Hour

Thousands are suffering from fever and ague, or languishing in that condition of debility which the variable weather of the season is liable to produce, especially if the nervous system be particularly sensitive and the physique delicate rather than robust. All these sufferers, however much they may deserve sympathy, are nevertheless the victims of their own want of forecast. A course of Hostetters Stomach Bitters, commenced a month ago, would have exempted them from their present troubles. Having neglected prevention, let them at once adopt a means of cure. A wineglassful of that genial vegetable tonic and alterative taken twice or thrice a day, for a week or two, will afford effectual relief in any case of intermittent or remittent fever, chronic indigestion, constipation, biliousness or nervous weakness, and a perseverence in the use of the restorative will prevent the possibility of a relapse.

PEARL WHEAT IS WITHOUT DOUBT THE MOST
Delicious, Wholesome and Nourishing
Preparation of nature's great food ever produced. Essentially nothing but the woody fibre and a portion of the water are removed by the process, leaving all the starch, gluten and the greatest part of the mineral substances (phosphates), all that is nourishing in the wheat. The removal of the woody fibre makes it far more palatable than the various preparations of wheat now in the market. No other article of food contains such proper proportions of the requirements of the whole human system. To those suffering from INDIGESTION, DYSPEPSIA, and to persons of sedentary habits, it will prove invaluable. As a BREAKFAST DISH it is unequaled. Our best physicians here say it is of more importance than anything else that can be found. Try it once and you will never be without it. Ask your Grocer or Druggist for a Package. Manufactured only by the

FINANCE AND TRADE.

MONDAY EVENING, April 14, 1873.

Perhaps parties who wonder at the closeness of money, considering the comparative quietness of general trade, would do well to remember that various railroads, towns and cities are among the heaviest borrowers and constantly in the market, and as it has become so fashionable that there seems to be little doubt about the habit having become a "second nature" in some instances, while in others it may possibly be considered an open question whether it does not take even a more prominent phase.

Many leading railroads, long established are borrowing at short time at high rates. And projectors of railroads located in the South and West are evidently not all particular whether they set or follow the fashion in this matter. On the whole we should hardly be willing to say that the wants of the mercantile public are extravagant, or that when business houses are well understood to be sound, but temporarily needy, that there is any lack of disposition to accommodate them as far as possible.

The city authorities, as represented through the Water Commission and the various Street Improvement Commissions, will be in the market as borrowers for from two to three millions of dollars during the coming summer. As holders of governments are selling out their bonds under influence of the high rates of premium they can do no better than re-invest their surplus capital in home bonds. Owing to the fact that the demand for these bonds during the summer months largely exceeds the demand, the agents for the sale of city securities have open subscription books for those wishing to invest, in order that there may be no delay when the bonds are issued. Subscribers can now have their names entered and their orders filled, as the city authorizes the issue of the bonds.

—Messrs. Ira B. McVay & Co. report the following quotations of government bonds in New York to-day, as furnished them by Jay Cook & Co., their correspondents:

PRODUCE AND GENERAL MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, MONDAY, April 14, 1873.

REMARKS.—The weather is all that could be wished, and before many days pass the cry of "impassable country roads" will have ceased to ring in our ears. What next? The market for the week opens as it closed with few signs of improvement, still we look for an increase in the volume of trade ere many days. We shall not weary the reader with extended remarks, nor will we enter into any speculations as to the cause of the present dullness in the markets. When the "good time coming" arrives we shall make a note of it. In the meantime the ruling of the market will be given below, the rates being wholesale unless otherwise noted.

APPLES—Receipts 418 barrels. The market is reported dull, and prices are lower, ranging from $1 00 ₩ barrel to $2 75, the latter being an outside figure for an extra choice article.

APPLE BUTTER—Market quiet with sales at 45a55c ₩ gallon.

ASHES—There is a fair demand at the following figures: Common soda ash 4¼a4½c; refined do 6a6¼c; pots 9¼a9½; pearls 11c; arsenic 3¼a3½c; nitrate soda 4¼a5c; black lead 6c.

ALES—X at $9 ₩ bbl; XX $10; porter $10; India ale $11. There is a fair demand.

Following are the varied quotations: Canvased hams 15c; do plain 14½c; S. C. shoulders 9c; canvased do 9½c; plain shoulders 8c; rib sides 9c; clear rib sides 9½c; clear sides 10c; canvassed breakfast bacon 12½c; plain do 12c; canvased dried beef 19c; plain do 18½c; mess pork $17 50; ham sausage 10c; leaf lard, in tierces, 9½c; refined, in tierces, 10c; in half bbls, 10½c; in kegs and buckets 11¼c. Receipts, tierces, 34.

BUTTER—Receipts 42 packages. The near approach of the advent of "grass butter" causes holders of stock to make exertions to run off the stocks on hand. It is difficult to quote the market, owing to its varying phases. We may remark, however, that there is little inquiry for anything but strictly prime butter, suitable for table use, which is held at 34@36c per lb; medium to good 24@25c; common 10@11c; bakers' 6@8c per lb.

BANNER BAKING POWDER—Sales, 5 lb cans at $27 00 ₩ doz; 1 lb cans $5 00; ½ lb cans $3 00; ¼ lb cans $1 60.

DRIED FRUITS—The season for this description of fruits is drawing to a close, causing the markets to rule slow at lower figures. We quote as follows: peaches, halves, 6½@7½c; mixed, 5½@6c; peeled, 16@18c; apples 3@5; blackberries, 10@12c; pitted cherries, 18@19c; unpitted, 6@7c ₩ lb.

The market presents no new features, if we except the fact that receipts are slightly on the increase. We see no reason to change our quotations, and give the state of the market as follows: Wheat—White $1 85a1 90, and prime red winter at $1 75@1 80, per car lots. Oats is in fair demand at 43@45c for mixed to prime white; black 42c per bushel. Corn—Ear is scarce and held at 50@51c, in car lots; shelled is dull at 48@49c, on track, and 50@51c free in elevator. PITTSBURGH OIL TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, TUESDAY, April 15, 1873.

There is but little doing here, but holders are not anxious to force sales. Parker's is quoted as follows: sales liberal, viz: [illegible] $2 25; 1,000 bbls $2 27½, and 1,500 bbls 3,000 bbls [illegible] 30. These are the highest figures Mutual pipe [illegible]me. ALLEGHENY LIVE STOCK MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, MONDAY, APRIL 14, 1873.

Cattle.

The receipts of cattle by the different railroads centering at the Allegheny yards have been some forty-eight car loads, or eight hundred and eighty head. In addition to these there were about one hundred head from the surrounding counties of Washington, Greene and Butler, making in all over nine hundred and eighty or one thousand head of cattle as the total offerings. The market opened up slow and dull, and with the exception of the ruling on a few strictly prime cattle continued so until the close. The lenten season being over, drovers expected a fair market, and of course held cattle firm. The market did not turn out to be as good as expected and as above noted, with the exception of a few prime cattle, trade ruled slow and dull. All the transient drovers complain of the high price of cattle in the country, and say they cannot be brought here to make any money. We are of the opinion that cattle are held higher in the country than at the regular markets, and until the matter gets balanced we hear the usual complaints about losses, &c. On the whole, the market was pretty much the same as last week, a few good cattle selling well and bulk slow at losing prices.

Stockers.

The number of stockers on sale to-day was small. The attendance of buyers was the largest of the season. The trade ruled slow, on account of the limited quality of the stock on sale. The buyers held back, and drovers held firm, and it took a good deal of talk to convince farmers that drovers were not asking big prices. From the look of things, we are of the opinion that the number of stock cattle that will be offered on sale this spring will be small. Our farmers do not want to pay more here for stock cattle than they cost in Chicago, and on this account is to be noted the small number on sale here. Below will be found the prices of cattle, as given by actual sales, also the arrivals as reported by Mr. Charles Stone, the gentlemanly clerk at the Allegheny station:

NEW YORK, April 14, 1873—P. M.

MONEY.

Money dear again to day but on the whole the market was easier than the closing days of last week. The morning rates ranged from ⅛ to ⅛ per cent. per day, with the bulk of business at ⅛; but in the afternoon there was a decline to 1-16@⅛; late dealings largely at ⅛. Street rumors generally agree that those brokers on the witness stand before the Grand Jury to-day were asked more about a conspiracy than any violation of the usury law and readily answered in the negative. Express companies report the receipt of over $2,000,000 currency to-day. Rumors are afloat that Secretary Richardson is about to sell $5,000,000 in gold and buy $5,000,000 in bonds and order the pre-payment of the May interest, but neither could be verified. The failure of a minor tea house is reported but the name is not given.

STOCK EXCHANGE.

Stocks irregular at the opening and prices were a fraction lower than at the close on Saturday, but a stronger feeling soon set in and the market continued to improve until first call was over, thereafter there was a general decline until two o'clock when the stringency in money mitigated somewhat and the market became firm and so continued until the close with the latest figures a trifle below the highest of the day. Some investment shares sold during the day for cash at lower prices. The most active stocks have been Pacific Mail, New York Central, Western Union and Rock Island. Panama made a brilliant dash from 106⅛ to 110, closing a fraction off. Pacific ranged from 56⅞ to 57⅛, New York Central from 100⅞ to 102, Rock Island from 108 to 109⅛, Lake Shore from 91⅛ to 92⅛, and Western Union from 84⅛ to 86.

THE marks last evening indicated eleven feet four inches, and falling. We noticed pretty liberal shipments, principally of Pittsburgh manufactures.

THE Coal Valley brought up nine barges loaded with 2,000 oil barrels.

COMMODORE R. C. GRAY and Major Dunlap will go as passengers on the Iron Mountain.

CAPT. DURLAND has purchased the towboat George Roberts for $14,000. A cheap boat.

THE United States mail packets on the slackwater leave daily at 8 A. M. and 5 P. M., sharp.

IT is reported that Lou. Moon, one of the John Kyle's pilots, recently drew $25,000 by a quarter ticket in the Havana Lottery.

THE towboat Tom Dodsworth made the trip from Pittsburgh to Cincinnati in 59 hours, with a tow of 195,000 bushels of coal.

WHILE nearly all the streams in the country are at a fine stage, the Upper Red is a foot lower than at any time last season.

THE fine towboat Fearless, Capt. Bickerstaff, is announced for St. Louis, Galena, Dubuque and St. Paul. She will have dispatch.

THE steamer Messenger and barges, Captain Cock, left for St. Louis with a good trip, about 700 tons. Pilots—John Ferguson and Wm. Abrams.

THE punctual packet West Virginia, Captain P. Donaldson, takes her departure this day, at 7 A. M., for Brownsville, Geneva, and way points.

THE St. Louis Democrat says: "The steamer Key West, Captain Grant Marsh, left Sioux City for Yellowstone river on an exploring expedition."

THE small sternwheel steamer Mollie Mohler was sold at St. Louis by the N. W. Union Packet Company to D. A. McDonald, of La Crosse, for $5,000.

TOWBOATS from the Illinois river, with ice barges, have been having a rough time of it. Several barges have been lost by sinking at various points above St. Louis.

THE Wild Waggoner's twenty-five inch seven and a half feet stroke cylinders are on their way up the river to be used in a new boat building for Captain John K. Booth.

THE eight iron steamers now being built on the Clyde for the new German "Eagle Line," are of 1,600 tons each; they are each 375 feet long, 40 feet beam, and have engines of 3,000-horse power. Their names are those of the German poets—Gothe, Schiller, Herder, Lessing, Wieland, Klopstock, Gellert and Th. Koerner. The contract price of each steamer is $80,000. Trips will be made weekly between Hamburg and New York. The company is known as the "General Transatlantic Steam Navigation Company of the City of Hamburg."

ADDITIONAL TOWBOAT ARRIVALS.—John Penny, My Choice, George Lysle, Charley McDonald, Coal Valley, Tom Reese No. 2, Tom Dodsworth, Sam Parker, J. F. Dravo and Niagara.

THE lowest rate at which corn was ever carried from St. Louis to New Orleans was seven cents per bushel, and the rate is now twenty cents per one hundred pounds, a trifle over ten cents per bushel.

THE first class packet Carrie Brooks, Captain Darlington, takes her departure this day at 4 P. M. for Wheeling, Marietta and Zanesville. Passengers take notice. The clerks are Major Harrison and Pittman—a pretty strong team.

THE favorite packet Exchange, Captain S. Shuman, is announced for Cincinnati, Louisville, Evansville and Nashville. This boat has unsurpassed accommodations, careful and experienced officers. The first clerk is our old friend, J. W. Vandergrift.

A COMPANY has filed articles of association to build a bridge over the Mississippi at Louisiana, Mo.; capital stock $500,000, divided in 5,000 shares. Directors—H. V. P. Block, Thomas J. C. Fagg, P. Draper, J. E. Carstarphen, and D. P. Dyer, all of Pike county, Mo.

CAPTAIN JOHN N. BOFINGER has probably shipped more troops in the United States, as a contractor, than any other man living. In 1869 he had a contract for transportation between St. Louis and Fort Benton and between St. Louis and New Orleans, total distance by these rivers, 4,300 miles.

THE New Orleans Times of the 7th inst. says: "We do not remember for years past business being so dull for the season of the year as it is at present. It is truly very discouraging for boatmen who come here with full cargoes and depart with not freight enough to give them the proper dip."

ANN E. JOHNSTON, has sold her fractional interest, one-sixth of the Ella Hughes, to Williams & Son, for $800 cash. The owners now are Fountain, Edmondson, Pitts, Hughes, one-sixth; C. H. Arthur, one-sixth; Williams & Son, one-sixth; Wm. Austin, five twenty-fourths; [illegible], Sloan & Co., five twenty-fourths, and John T. Cartwright, one-twelfth.

WE regret to learn that Captain Tom Farrow, a prominent coal merchant of this vicinity, who was stricken down with paralysis some time since, and is lying in a very precarious condition at his residence above McKeesport, on the Monongahela river, being speechless and unconscious. Captain Farrow is a member of the firm of Farrow, Gumbert & Co., whose works are situated at Bellview.

THE towboat Iron Mountain, Capt. W. C. Gray, leaves this morning for New Orleans with the following tow: One barge coke, 40,000 bushels, for St. Louis; one barge railroad iron, for Maysville; one barge Pittsburgh manufactures for New Orleans; one item being 4,000 boxes of Hostetter's bitters. At Bellair she will take in tow three barges of railroad iron, destined for New Orleans, intended for the Texas and Pacific Railroad.

MANY years ago Lambert & Hardcastle kept a boat in Nashville Mat, the senior member of the firm, served his apprenticeship at the mouth of Smithland. On one occasion he was ordered to take a dozen chickens down to a steamboat and put them in a coop upon the roof. Mat, was then a verdant boy, fresh from the country, and he created some noise and confusion among the passengers, who were seated at the dinner table, by having raised the skylight and let the chickens loose in the cabin.

AN exchange says: "A special meeting of the Board of Supervising Inspectors of Steamboats has been called for the 15th inst. at Washington. We are not aware of the specific reasons for the call, but suppose that Gen. Smith intends to inaugurate a thorough reform in this branch of the public service, and have his chiefs come to an understanding, so that the law may be carried out in the proper spirit. It is to be hoped that at this meeting the rules of the Board will be classified, condensed and simplified, so that all interested may know how to interpret them. As they now stand they are a puzzle, even to a Philadelphia lawyer."

THE steamer Selma went into New Orleans last Sunday, from the Tallahatchie and Coldwater rivers, the first steamer to make a regular trip from New Orleans up that way for several years. She received a couple of hundred bales of cotton above Tillatoba, from plantations that have recently been hauling cotton over to the Mississippi, a distance of from fifteen to forty miles. She also had forty-five bales for Memphis, which was reshipped at Vicksburg. During the year 1856-7-8, the steamer Yazoo Belle, Captain Jno. C. Rieves, ran regularly from New Orleans to the Coldwater river, ascending as high as Tom Hill's and Sanders' plantations, situated from sixteen to twenty miles east of Helena. The Belle made regular twenty day trips during the business seasons of those years. The Sallie Robinson, Captain Dyas Power, used to make occasional trips to the same points, and cotton was carried through to New Orleans at $2 per bale. The Vicksburg Herald reports that the Selma received from $4 to $6 per bale. Captain W. B. Richardson, formerly of the R. E. Lee, is the present commander of the Selma.

Additional Coal Departures.

THE PERFIDIOUS MODOCS.

General Sherman's Telegram to General Scofield—General Jeff C. Davis the Successor of the Murdered Canby—Official Statement of the Purpose and Powers of the Modoc Peace Commission.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., April 14.—General Sherman, in a dispatch to General Scofield, says: "The President now sanctions the most severe punishment of the Modocs, and I hope to hear that they have met the doom they so richly have earned by their insolence and perfidy. Commit Mrs. Canby and have every honor paid the remains of General Canby. You may be sure that any measure of severity to the savages will be sustained. General Jefferson C. Davis, now in Indiana, has been directed to immediately assume the command made vacant by the death of General Canby."

No further particulars of the Modoc massacre have been received up to noon to-day. The Secretary of the Interior to-day repeated that he should ask no mercy whatever for the Modocs. He did not think the massacre would seriously affect the peace policy, which protected friendly Indians but punished those hostile. Gen. Canby was in accord with this policy, and had been entrusted with the management of the proceedings connected with the Modoc mission, and his decision was to be final.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 14.—The following is an official statement of the purpose and powers of the Modoc Peace Commission, being a letter under and in accordance with which the instructions of the Commissioners were prepared by the Indian Bureau:

WASHINGTON, January 29, 1873.

To Acting Commissioner of Indian Affairs:

SIR: Referring to the difficulties that have arisen and still continue to exist between the troops of the United States and the Modoc Indians in Oregon, I have to inform you that I have determined to send a Commission to the scene of difficulty for the purpose of examining into the same. This Commission will consist of three members, whose names will be hereafter furnished you. It will be required to proceed to the Modoc country as rapidly as possible, and before entering upon the active discharge of its duties will confer with Gen. Canby of the United States army, and in all subsequent proceedings of the Commission it should confer freely with that officer and act under his advice as far as it may be possible to do so, and always with his co-operation. The objects to be gained by this Commission are these; First, to ascertain the causes which led to the difficulties and hostilities between the troops and Indians; and, secondly, to devise the most effective and judicious measures for preventing a continuance of these hostilities and for the restoration of peace. It is the opinion of the Department, from the best information in its possession, that it is advisable to remove the Modoc Indians, with their consent, to some new reservation, and it is believed that the coast reservation in Oregon lying between Cape Lookout on the north and Cape Perpetua on the south, and bounded on the east by the coast range mountains and on the west by the Pacific Ocean, will be found to furnish a proper location for these Indians. The Commission therefore will be directed to make an amicable arrangement, locating the Indians on some portion of this reservation, provided it is possible for it to be so; and provided that said Commission is not of opinion, after fully investigating the case, that some other place is better adapted to accomplish the purpose of the department. In either of which events the Commission will, before finally concluding an arrangement with the Indians, hold communication with the Commissioner of Indian affairs and receive further advices. The Commission will in no wise attempt to direct the military authorities in reference to their movements. It will be at liberty, however, to inform the commanding officer of the wish of the department that no more force or violence be used than in his opinion shall be deemed absolutely necessary and proper, it being the desire of the department in this, as well as in all other cases of like character, to conduct its communications with the Indians in such manner as to secure peace and obtain their confidence, if possible, and their voluntary consent to comply with such regulations as may be deemed necessary for their present and future welfare. The Commission will be directed to keep the department advised as frequently as possible of its progress, until the work which is assigned to it shall be accomplished or its further progress proven to be unnecessary.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
C. DELANO, Secretary.

The following is a copy of the telegram placing the Modoc Peace Commissioners under the control of General Canby:

HEADQUARTERS ARMY UNITED STATES,
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 24, 1873.

General E. R. S. Canby, commanding Van Bremen's Ranche, Modoc country via Yreka, California: Secretary Delano is in possession of all your dispatches up to March 16th, and he advises the Secretary of War that he is so impressed with your wisdom and desire to fulfill the peaceful policy of the government, that he authorizes you to remove from the present Commission any member you may think unfit, to appoint others to their places, and to report through us to him such changes. This actually devolves on you the entire management of the Modoc question, and the Secretary of War instructs me to convey this message to you with his sanction and approval.

WM. T. SHERMAN, General.

Changing the Name of Forbes Street.

In the Common branch of Councils, yesterday, an ordinance was passed changing the name of Forbes street to Fourth avenue. The ordinance was presented from the Survey Committee, and doubtless owing to the fact that that thoroughfare is to be connected with the present Fourth avenue. Notwithstanding this fact, however, it is to be regretted that this old historical name should be stricken out. The march of progress, however, seems to be sweeping out all old associations. The names of Duquesne, Pitt, Wayne, Harrison, O'Hara and others, long since gave way to numbers, and soon there will be none of the old landmarks existing.

Meeting of the Lincoln Club.

A meeting of the Lincoln Club was held yesterday afternoon, Edward House, Esq., in the chair, and with Dr. G. A. Sprecher as Secretary.

The report of the Treasurer was read, showing a very gratifying exhibit of the finances of the club. This, and also the report of the Chairman of the Executive Committee, Dr. Arthurs, was accepted.

Joseph M. Gazzam, Esq., made a neat and appropriate speech, congratulating the members on the prosperous condition of the organization and expressing belief in its future success.

It was decided to meet on Tuesday evening next, for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year.

Adjourned.

Slight Fire.

At a few minutes past one o'clock yesterday afternoon an alarm was sounded from box 24, corner of Fifth avenue and Smithfield street. The Fire Department made a speedy response, but it was found unnecessary to put the engines into service. The alarm was occasioned by a "smoky chimney" leading from a room in the fourth story of the building adjoining the COMMERCIAL office, on Fifth avenue. A fire had been built in the grate, and the occupants had locked up the room and left the building. The smoke filled the room, and when it began to force its way through the cracks around the window sashes, it alarmed the residents of the court in the rear, and the cry of fire was raised. The fire was "all in the grate," and of course no harm was done. The property belongs to the Splane estate.

The Coming Fair.

The fair for the benefit of the Boarding Home for Working Women, which will open on Tuesday evening next, April 22, in City Hall, promises to be a great success. Nearly all the Churches are contributing fancy articles for the tables, and also money to aid the movement, and great interest in its success is being manifested. Dinner will be served every day by some of the Churches. The first dinner will be served to-morrow week by the ladies of Christ M. E. Church and Liberty street Church. Supper will also be given. It is proposed to fix the price of admission at the moderate sum of twenty-five cents, or fifty cents with a meal. There will be appropriate exercises on the opening night, and also two or three nights during the fair, which will continue ten days. Parties who propose donating articles will leave them at the rooms of the Y. M. C. A., where a lady will take them in charge.

The City Clerkship.

Eustace S. Morrow, Esq., was yesterday re-elected City Clerk by acclamation—an honor which was well deserved, as he has proven himself a competent and attentive officer and at the same time an affable and obliging gentleman. Mr. George Booth was chosen Assistant City Clerk, a position just created by ordinance, and the duties of which include the clerkship to the Common Council, so satisfactorily discharged for fifteen years past, by Mr. Hugh McMaster. Mr. Booth has been acting as clerk to the Street Committee for some time past, is quite familiar with the routine of Council business, and will no doubt discharge his duties fully and satisfactorily. It is due to Mr. McMaster to say that he did not make an active canvass for the position, but the handsome vote received by Mr. Booth sufficiently attests his popularity. The retiring clerk has the best wishes of many friends for his future prosperity, while his successor will be cordially welcomed to his new position.

PITTSBURGH COUNCILS.

The Park Project—The Schenley's Coming to the City—Projected City Hospital—The Pay of the Board of Revision—City Clerks Elected—Local Option Election Expenses—Annexation—Extensive Street Improvements Important Business.

A regular semi-monthly meeting of City Councils was held yesterday afternoon.

SELECT COUNCIL.

A quorum being present, Council proceeded to business, Dr. Gross in the chair.

It was agreed to take up the business at the point at which it was left off at last meeting.

THE PARK PROJECT.

Mr. Riddell, from the Park Committee, reported progress. He stated that the Committee had deemed it proper not to present a full report now, inasmuch as it was expected that Mr. Schenley and wife would visit the city soon, and a personal interview with them might lead to results which it might be necessary to incorporate in the report.

Mr. Burgwin moved that the further consideration of the report be postponed till next meeting. He did not place much reliance on statements that Mr. Schenley and wife were coming to this country. He did not wish to discuss the question, but was opposed to killing a project by interminable delay.

Mr. McCandless moved that the report of the committee be accepted and the committee continued. Agreed to.

THE CITY HOSPITAL.

Mr. Morrow presented the report of the special committee on the purchase of a City Hospital, setting forth that the Western Pennsylvania Hospital could not be transferred to the city, but patients would be admitted at a small cost. The committee deemed it best to abandon the idea of securing this hospital, owing to legal difficulties in the way, and reported a resolution authorizing the purchase of a site. The resolution was read, when

Mr. McCandless offered an amendment providing that the Committee shall report to Councils the location and cost of the site, the cost of the building, and the estimated expense necessary to maintain it. The resolution, with this amendment, was adopted.

OLD BUSINESS.

The resolution passed in C. C., directing the Finance Committee to report the cost of equalization of taxes, was concurred in.

The act authorizing the improvement of Second avenue was laid over indefinitely.

An ordinance relating to the partial grading of streets was postponed indefinitely.

An ordinance repealing ordinance for sewer on Beach alley was laid over.

An ordinance for a three feet sewer on Fifth avenue, in the outer districts, was called up. Mr. Chalmers presented a remonstrance, and both papers were referred to Committee.

Ordinance for board walk on Lang avenue. Referred back to committee.

The ordinance for sewer on Wylie avenue was referred back, a remonstrance having been presented by Mr. Rafferty.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Mr. J. H. Jones presented an ordinance amending an ordinance creating a Paid Fire Department. The main feature of the amendment was, that members of Councils—one from each branch—should be eligible to serve on the Commission.

Mr. McCarthy feared there was a "mouse in this meal bag."

Mr. Jones disavowed any scheme in the interest of any one, and stated that the bill was easily understood.

Mr. Jeremy moved to indefinitely postpone the ordinance, which was agreed to.

STREET BONDS.

The ordinance authorizing the Mayor to execute the bond of the city in street opening, widening and straightening, when the city desired to take possession before the assessment of damages, was read three times and passed.

THE BOARD OF REVISION.

The ordinance fixing the compensation of the members of the Board of Revision, at five dollars per day was called up.

Mr. McCandless moved to amend by making the compensation four dollars per day, which was subsequently withdrawn.

Mr. Littell stated that the Board was pushing the work vigorously, and twelve wards had already been finished up.

Mr. Burgwin wanted to know what the "joke" would cost. He had estimated that, at five dollars per day, it would cost $25,000 per annum. He therefore moved to indefinitely postpone the ordinance, as there was no appropriation out of which to pay them. This motion was lost.

Mr. McCarthy moved to suspend the rules, and pass the ordinance finally. It was impossible to tell what the Board would cost, but the expense would scarcely be a tithe of what had been estimated. His own opinion was that the cost would not exceed $14,000. A large amount of this would be made up to the city by the lost taxes, or property not taxed, which had been discovered by the Board.

Mr. Laufman explained how he had calculated the cost of the Board, as stated by him at a former meeting, and asserted that the time required to complete the work had been obtained from three members of the Board, and it was easy to multiply the number of days by the per diem compensation. If, as had been alleged, twelve wards had been assessed in two weeks, the work had not been well done, and had better been left to the old Assessors.

Mr. Burgwin was opposed to the manner in which the Board had been organized, and to the way in which the work was being done. The Board was acting through sub-committees, and there was danger that the errors and inequalities in assessment would be as great under the new experiment as under the old method. He would vote for the compensation, however, as the members ought to be paid for their services. It was not their fault that the Board had been created.

Mr. Aiken proposed an amendment, that the per diem be fixed at five dollars, and that the duties of the Board be postponed until further orders. Not agreed to.

Mr. Littell made an earnest speech in favor of the passage of the ordinance.

The question was taken, and the ordinance was passed finally under a suspension of the rules.

THE ASSISTANT CLERKSHIP.

The ordinance passed in Common Council, fixing the salary of the Assistant Clerk at $1,700, was read.

The President stated that the election, under the act of Assembly, had to be held in joint session to-day.

Mr. Riddell opposed the salary as too high.

Mr. Kirk thought $1,000 an ample salary.

Mr. Burgwin moved that the election be held, as required, and that the question of salary be postponed until the next meeting of Councils. Agreed to.

THE ELECTION EXPENSES UNDER THE LOCAL OPTION LAW.

Mr. Shipton presented a communication from the City Controller, setting forth that the Court of Common Pleas had decided that the city of Allegheny was responsible for the election expenses under the local option law; that, notwithstanding this decision, he did not deem it proper to order the payment of the election expenses of this city, amounting to about $1,000, without first asking instructions from Councils.

The whole matter was referred to the Finance Committee with power to act.

Mr. McCarthy called up the ordinance authorizing the Board of Revision to fill vacancies in the Board.

The rules were suspended in order to pass the ordinance.

Mr. Aiken moved an amendment that members of Councils should be eligible, provided that they served without compensation. Agreed to.

Mr. Burgwin moved to refer the ordinance to the City Solicitor, to report upon its legality. His own view was that where officers were elected by the people vacancies must be filled by the people, as in case of Councilmen.

Mr. Littell urged the passage of the ordinance.

Mr. McCarthy stated that the whole matter was in the hands of the Councils—there was no doubt about it.

The motion to refer to the Solicitor was lost.

Mr. McCarthy read from the act in support of his view.

Mr. Riddle doubted the legality of the ordinance now under discussion.

Mr. McCune moved a reconsideration of the vote to refer to the Solicitor. Lost.

Mr. McCune said he would have to vote against the ordinance, as he did not wish to run the risk of nullifying the action of the Board, being in favor of equalization.

The yeas and nays were called on the final passage of the ordinance, and resulted as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. Adams, Ahl, Atkinson, Brown, Chalmer, Dannells, Deitrich, Dorrington, Doyle, Durling, Elder, Foster, Froelich, Goldthorpe, Haines, Hays, Hunter, Jeremy, Kirk, Liddell, Lloyd, Littell, Marshall, Monteeth, McCandless, McCarthy, McKee, McMahon, O'Neil, Pearson, Rafferty, Rayburn, Shipton, Smith, Waring, Watson, Zern. Total 37.

NAYS—Aiken, Burgwin Chess, Duncan, Fetterman, Galvin, Herron, House, Jones, Kline, Laufman, Morrow, Murray, McClurg, McCune, McDonald, Riddell, Schultz, Scully, Seeley, Gross, President. Total 21.

JOINT SESSION.

Councils then went into joint session, to elect a City Clerk and Assistant Clerk.

Mr. Morrow was elected City Clerk by acclamation.

Mr. George Booth and Mr. H. McMaster were nominated for Assistant Clerk. The ballot was taken and resulted:

Mr. Booth..........................70 votes.
Mr. McMasters......................28 "

Mr. Booth was therefore declared legally elected, and the joint session adjourned.

WILKINSBURG ANNEXATION.

Mr. Watson stated that he was absent when the special committees were called, and asked leave to present a report of the special committee relative to the admission of a portion of Wilkins township. Leave was granted, and the gentleman presented the report of the second committee, setting forth that they had examined all the papers before the previous committee, found that the legal requirements had been fully complied with, and that Councils might legally pass the ordinance admitting that district. The report was received and filed.

VINE STREET.

The report of Viewers on the opening of Vine street was called up.

Mr. Rafferty presented a remonstrance, as opposed the approval of the report.

Mr. McCandless moved that the report be approved.

Mr. Rafferty called the yeas and nays, and the vote resulted: yeas, 37; nays, 13. So the report was approved.

FIFTH AVENUE GRADE.

When the ordinance fixing the grade of the east end of Fifth avenue came up, Mr. Burgwin moved an amendment modifying the grade from the lines of Col. Kerr and Mr. Holmes to Penn avenue.

Mr. Lloyd opposed the proposed change very vigorously, and presented a statement or remonstrance from Messrs. Thos. M. Howe, Isaac Jones and Christopher Zug, Commissioners for the improvement of said avenue, protesting against any further change.

Mr. Lloyd also offered a petition from citizens of the north side of Fifth avenue, protesting against any change of grade.

Mr. Pearson moved to amend by referring all the papers in the matter back to the committee.

Mr. Waring said the committee had given the matter a most thorough examination, and he opposed any further reference to said committee.

Mr. McCandless also presented a remonstrance against any change in grade.

Mr. Watson made a warm speech against the change of grade, and moved to lay the whole matter on the table.

Mr. Burgwin sustained his amendment, as the best grade that could be had, and urged its adoption because it came from the Survey Committee. It was perfectly useless to send the report back to the committee.

Mr. Watson withdrew his motion to lay upon the table.

Mr. E. P. Jones favored a reference back to committee.

Mr. Shipton was opposed to any change whatever, and believed that if changes were made the City Treasury would suffer, as the contract for the grading had already been made and the work commenced.

The motion to refer back to the committee was put and carried.

THE TWENTY-SECOND WARD.

The ordinance passed in Common Council, at a former meeting, dividing the Twenty-second ward for election purposes, was concurred in.

It being almost six o'clock, and the business far from finished, Mr. Kirk moved to adjourn until seven o'clock in the evening, which was not agreed to.

Council then adjourned, and the unfinished business goes over two weeks, unless a special meeting is called.

RELIEVING THE RAILWAYS.

Mr. Follansbee moved for reconsideration of the ordinance relieving the Central Passenger Railway from keeping Wylie avenue in repair except between the tracks and one foot on each side. The motion carried.

Mr. Evan Jones said that this was simply a renewal of an ordinance passed five years ago. The road is not a paying one, and is a public convenience, and ought to be relieved from the provision of their charter for another five years, because the company is not able to comply.

Mr. Follansbee thought that all companies ought to be treated alike.

Mr. Hays did not agree with the gentleman. Other roads were making money, this one is not, but is a public convenience.

Mr. Duff stated that the road was being maintained by a few men who did not expect to make money for some years.

Mr. Finley thought that in view of the facts stated and the difficulties under which the road operated it should be relieved.

Mr. Rahauser opposed the ordinance.

Mr. Fleming and Mr. Campbell favored the ordinance, and said that the road was of benefit to wagon travel as well as individuals using it.

The ordinance was again passed finally.

Mr. Fleming, from the Survey Committee, reported the following papers for action:

Mr. Carroll presented the report of the Monongahela Wharf Committee, covering the monthly pay roll heretofore published.

THE MARKET HOUSES AND DUQUESNE GREYS.

Mr. McConway presented an ordinance amending the City Code, giving Councils, as stated by Mr. McConway, the control of the market houses. It provides that Councils shall have the power by resolution to make such disposition of said City Hall and the third story of said Western Market House, as to them may seem best for the interest of said city. Passed finally.

PAY OF BOARD OF REVISERS.

When the business of S. C. was reached, and the ordinance fixing the compensation of members of the Board of Revision at $5 per day was read, Mr. Finley moved to amend that the pay be double that of members of Councils. [Laughter.] Mr. Finley said that Councils gave a large amount of time for public business for no pay and this Board ought to do the same. He entered his protest against the ordinance, and said it would cost for each ward $180 per man.

Mr. Evan Jones, Mr. Fulton and Mr. McConway opposed the motion to amend, saying that it was trifling and one of the innumerable attempts to prevent the work going on.

Mr. Arensberg moved to make the pay $3 per day which was carried.

Mr. Finley moved a second amendment, that eight hours be fixed as a day's work. Lost.

Mr. McConway desired to inform Mr. Finley of the Twenty-second ward that the Board in going over that ward had found 268 full lots which had not been assessed since 1868.

Mr. Jones moved to reconsider the vote on the amount of pay. Carried.

Mr. Jones moved to concur with Select Council, which was lost, the ayes and nays being as follows:

AYES—Messrs. Arnholt, Bindley, Boyd James, Fleming, Fulton, Harris, Jones, Kerr, Moore, Jos., McConway, McGimpsey, Perchment, Sewell and Williams—14.

The Chair read a communication from the Fire Commission, announcing that the terms of Messrs. Mackey, Hays and Moorhead, as members of said Commission, will expire in May next, and that it will be necessary for Councils before the time to hold an election for three members. Received and filed.

Mr. Hays presented petitions for the improvement of Mary Ann street and Walnut alley, South Side, which were referred to the Street Committee.

Common Council non-concurred in action of S. C. as follows:

On the communication of the Controller with reference to the payment of election officers at local option election.

Mr. McConway moved to non-concur, and that the City Attorney be instructed to contest the matter in the Courts. Carried.

Action on the ordinance relative to running of railroad trains was postponed, on motion of Mr. McConway, who stated that its points were already covered by ordinance.

The resolution relative to the purchase of a site for a city hospital and pest house was amended, on motion of Mr. Fleming, so as to instruct the joint committee to purchase a suitable site without referring back to Councils. The resolution now goes back to Select Branch.

EQUALIZATION AGAIN.

Mr. Finley offered the following, which had been adopted at a meeting of citizens of the Twenty-first ward:

WHEREAS, An ordinance, commonly known as the Equalization ordinance, was passed by a bare majority of Councils, and is distasteful to a large majority (if not a majority) of the citizens of Pittsburgh, and especially to the coerced consolidated districts between the rivers, and that the same may prove in the end inoperative, and create a necessity for the city to go upon the markets a borrower of money at a usurious rate of interest; therefore,

Resolved, That our city Councils be and are hereby respectfully requested to pass an ordinance repealing or at least holding the provisions of said ordinance in abeyance for the present fiscal year at least, and that the proper officers be instructed to proceed at once to levy tax for the present year on the basis of the last triennial assessment.

Resolved, That we, the citizens of the Twenty-first ward are in favor of equalization in taxation as in all things else, and will submit to all laws so long as they are on our statute books, and be not of so vague and indefinite a nature as the so-called equalization enactment.

Resolved, That in our opinion the productiveness of property should be the basis of taxation and that it is an error, yea, it is an oppression to place rural and unproductive property upon the same basis of taxation as that of highly productive property in the old city proper.

On motion, action on the resolution was deferred until next meeting.

Adjourned.

Murder in Westmoreland.

A fatal shooting affray occurred early on Sunday morning at Penn Station, Westmoreland county, a man named Beveridge being killed by his son-in-law named Atkinson. The perpetrator of the deed resides at Turtle Creek, and in company with his family on Saturday night visited Beveridge with the intention of spending Sunday there. During the evening the parties, or the male portion of them, got to drinking and continued it till a late hour. A quarrel ensued between the persons named and Beveridge was shot twice. The first shot took effect in the shoulder but appears to have been only a flesh wound. Mrs. Atkinson interfered, but was injured in the effort to induce her husband to withhold, and she was compelled to desist. A second shot was fired which killed Beveridge immediately, taking effect in his heart. The murderer fled but was apprehended on Sunday, and is now confined in the Greensburg jail. Other parties, it appears, united in the melee, and several were injured. One, a man named Gibson, was severely injured. Beveridge was about sixty years of age. The parties are coal miners.

A Practical Test.

The air brake, embracing the automatic appliance recently invented by Mr. Westinghouse, has been attached to the Wall's accommodation, Conductor Routh. In coming to the city, Saturday morning, the automatic arrangement was practically and unexpectedly put to the test. In the deep cut a short distance west of Millvale, a large stone had by some means or other been placed too near the rail, and as the train passed along the stone was struck by the iron rod, or "trip," which extends from the body of the car to within a few inches of the rail, and the office of which is to let on the brakes whenever an obstruction is encountered—as when a wheel breaks, or when the truck leaves the track. As soon as the "trip" was displaced, the brakes were applied and the train was brought to a halt in less than its own length. The stop was so natural that the passengers were not aware that anything unusual had happened. In a minute or two the trainmen discovered what had caused the application of the brakes, and the train proceeded on her way. The circumstance shows the efficiency with which the automatic brake does its work.

PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

Miss Carlotta Le Clercq opened her week's engagement last night as Pauline in the "Lady of Lyons," before a remarkably intelligent and appreciative audience, but which, numerically speaking, was by no means commensurate with the distinguished ability and deserts of the gifted debutante. Her impersonation of the heroine was one of the most satisfactory performances that has been given at this theatre for some time. She looked the character she would represent, and in every part of the play was equal to all its requirements, giving the central figure with a depth of feeling, a grace of action and an appreciation so thorough, and so free from affectation and artifice, as to compel the approval and applause of the most stolid and unimpressible. Her rendition of the character was admirable in every detail. To-night Miss Le Clercq appears as Julia in "The Hunchback," a role in which she has achieved some of her most notable and enviable triumphs.

English Opera at the Academy.

The attendance at this theater, last evening, on the occasion of the first appearance of the Seguin English Opera Company, was slim—in fact, extremely slim. "Il Trovatore" is an opera which should not be attempted by a weak company; some other selection would have better suited the organization at the Academy. It puts to the test all the histrionic ability of the artists, and taxes their powers of expression fully as much as their voices. Mrs. Zelda Seguin won very deserved applause by her conscientious effort, and upheld her well-earned reputation. Miss Emma Howson improves a little on acquaintance. Mr. Brookhouse Bowler was not in good voice, but struggled manfully through his part. It is but charity to let the other people go without comment. The orchestra and the chorus are lamentably weak.

To-night "Maritana" will be given—and in it the company will have a better chance to win success.

Aims's American Theater.

The complimentary testimony to that popular caterer, Fred. Aims, which took place yesterday, embracing two performances, was pretty well attended, but, in justice to the beneficiary, there should have been many more present. The entertainments were all that could be desired, and rendered perfect satisfaction. For this evening a new programme is announced.

Trimble's Varieties.

Treasurer Wilson received a most substantial recognition at the hands of his friends yesterday afternoon and last night. The benefit tendered him put quite a handsome sum in his pocket. The regular company was strengthened by a large number of volunteers, all of whom acquitted themselves with credit. There will be a new bill to-night.

Library Hall.

A large, fashionable and particularly intelligent audience assembled at Library Hall last evening to welcome the return to our city of America's greatest artiste, Miss Jane Coombs. The attraction was Boucicault's brilliant comedy, "London Assurance," with Miss Coombs in the role of Lady Gay Spanker. The appearance of Miss Coombs was the signal for an outburst of generous applause, in which the people united as a testimonial to such talent as seldom is presented to the theater going public of our city. At the end of the third act Miss Coombs was honored with a call before the curtain, to which the lady most gracefully responded.

Of the support given Miss Coombs, the Sir Harcourt Courtly of Mr. A. D. Bradley was very fine. An old-time favorite in this city, Mr. Harry Langdon, was the Dazzle of the evening, and most excellently did he perform his part. The versatile comedian, Mr. Harry Hotto, appeared as Mark Meddle, and as usual kept the audience in a roar during his scenes. Miss Lizzie Pierson made her first appearance in our city in the character of Grace Harkaway, and gave a fair interpretation of the character. Mr. Hardie made a fair Charles Courtley, while Mr. J. V. Daily as Cool acquitted himself very satisfactorily.

Our theater-goers can assure themselves of dramatic treats of rare excellence by attending Library Hall this week. The best of modern comedies, with the choicest of the romantic and historical plays, with such an artiste as Miss Jane Coombs in the leading roles, is such an attraction as no lover of the pure drama can afford to miss. This evening "School for Scandal" will be performed, when another large and intellectual assemblage may be anticipated. Seats may be secured at Blume's music store, Fifth avenue.

Correction.

In yesterday's issue, in noticing the postponement of the third grand concert for the benefit of the Kentucky Library, we unintentionally made it read "to have taken place to-day," whereas it should have read, "to have taken place April 8th." The concert has been postponed until July 8th.

The Weber Piano Fortes

Have become the favorite instruments of the artistic world, and are indorsed by every musical authority as the best piano manufactured.

The special adaption to the human voice has induced every celebrated singer to use them in preference to any other.

"The Weber upright has no rival."

Johann Strauss, who purchased one for his music room in Vienna, says: "I assure you (Mr. Weber) I have never seen any pianos which equal yours, and how so small an instrument can contain a perfect orchestra surprises me."

The sale of the Weber piano has increased in four years 368 per cent, as per internal revenue returns, while the other leading piano forte houses have increased 20 to 25 per cent.

Twice as reasonable as consistent with thoroughness of workmanship.

No person should fail to hear them, at Carl Retter's, 127 Federal street, Allegheny, before purchasing any other piano.

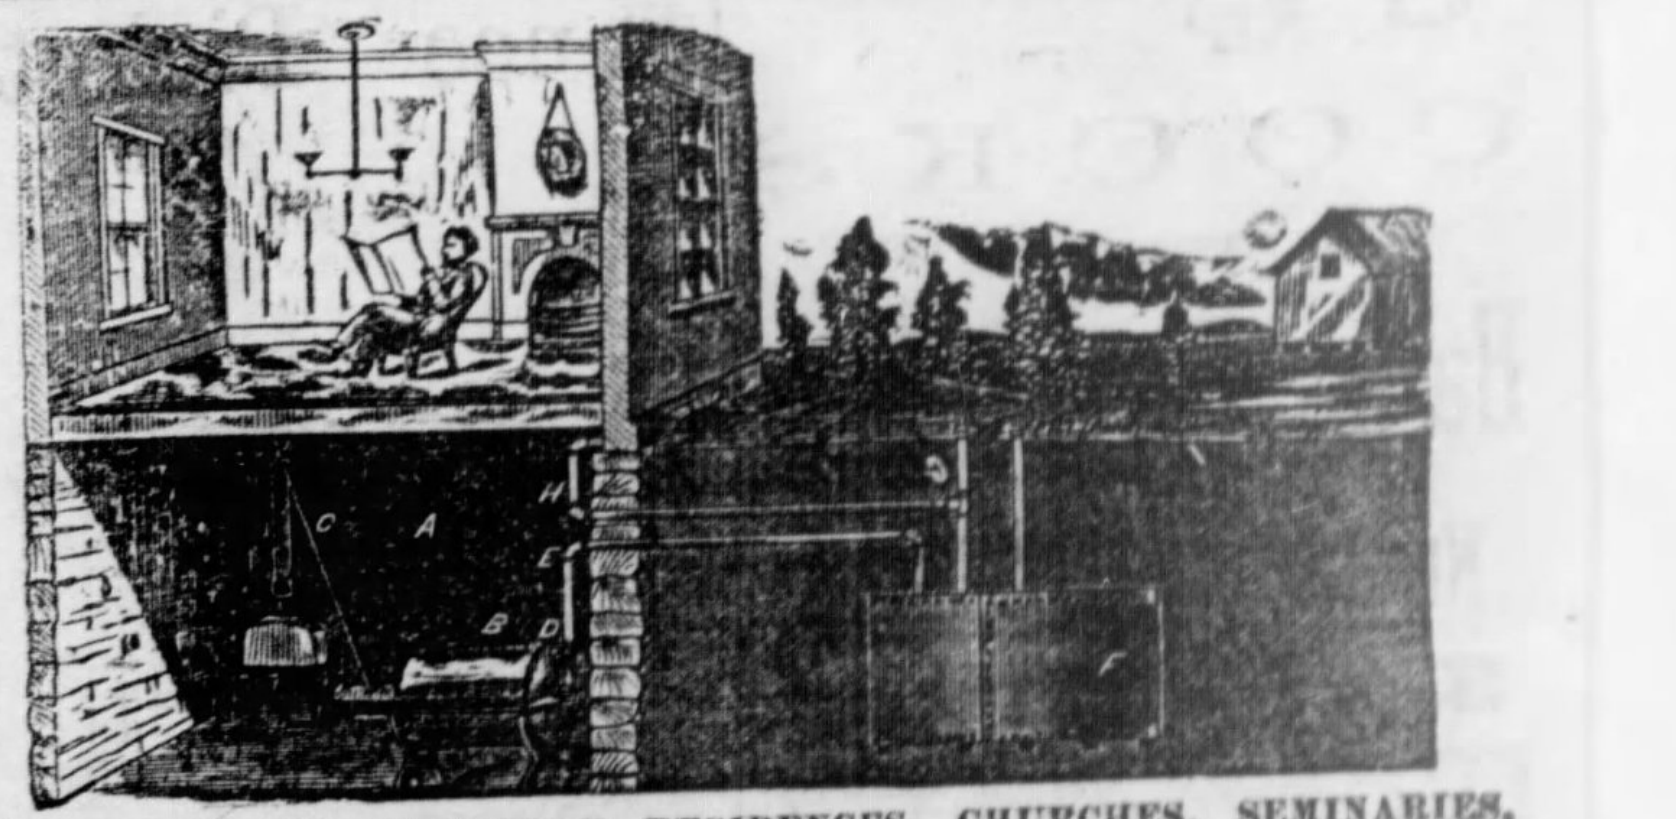
GAS LIGHT FOR THE COUNTRY!



FOR COUNTRY AND SUBURBAN RESIDENCES, CHURCHES, SEMINARIES, STORES, HALLS, ASYLUMS, Etc.

Gas Less than $1 20 Per Thousand Feet.

The COLEMAN GAS MACHINE combines simplicity with the best and most scientific application of the properties of Gasoline, which the Gas is manufactured from.

There can be no question about the safety in using this Machine. As it is placed outside of the building from twenty to thirty feet, and from six to eight feet under ground, there is less risk in lighting a whole house with this Machine than the use of one oil lamp. In this Machine we meet the great want of the age, a Light obtained without trouble, at small cost, which neither offends the olfactory sense, weariess the eye, nor vitiates the atmosphere by the presence of impurities, and at the same time GIVES A LIGHT OF GREAT BRILLIANCY, with all the security desirable. Testimonials and references furnished when desired. We prefer, however, to make the Gas Works the reference by actual test, with sufficient guaranty. Any information will be cheerfully given, either upon personal application or by letter. A Working Model of the Machine may be seen at any time at our Store.
